Editor's Notes

And it's been a long December and there's reason to believe

*Maybe this year will be better than the last
I can't remember all the times I tried to tell my myself
To hold on to these moments as they pass.*

-Counting Crows, 1996

What a year it's been for hashing around the globe. Harrier Magazine correspondents took you to familiar and to new locations that you may never have the opportunity to experience first hand.

InterAmerica's Hash 2017 in 90 degree Arizona sunshine had hot reviews. One experienced hashman said the Ball Breaker Run in the heat nearly killed him. On the other end of the hash trail difficulty scale, our roving correspondent Quick Drawers beat the heat by taking a seat on a large block of ice at the end of his Phoenix trail.

If you prefer the desert sand and sun to winter snow and sludge, then Abu Dhabi might be just the place for you. With nearly 2100 runs over the last 30 years, the Abu Dhabi Hash House Harriers run year round in the blazing summer heat and in the balmy winter months. Abu Dhabi will host InterGulf in March 2018, so make your plans to head that way to join one of the finest hashes in the region.

Our prolific Africa correspondent, Head Mistress, joined her Addis Ababa Hash mates on a journey to the Great Ethiopian Rift Valley. They discovered virgin hash territory overlooking scenic Lake Hawassa on the slopes of Mount Alamura. Local hashers provided the group with St. George, a tasty local beer. Head Mistress highly recommends that you visit her next year for the Ethiopian Mountain Challenge in late April 2018.

As one who has attended every Indochina Mekong Hash in Laos since 1999, I can honestly say this year was a great effort by the Vientiane hashers. Of course it helps when you have one of the best beers in the region as your sponsor, and a core group of hard working hashers doing their best to ensure that everyone had a great time.

Interhash Fiji is just a few months down the road, and the organizers assure us that everything is falling into place nicely according to their plan. There is still time to register if you have not yet done so.

If you missed the Train Rumble to Interhash in Borobudur then get on board for The Return of the Great Train Rumble as a Pre-Lube to the 80th Anniversary of Mother Hash. A great itinerary from Bangkok to Kuala Lumpur is in store. Read all about it and watch for updates as they become available.

This Hash Boy Classic takes us back to ancient Egypt for what may be the most important archaeological find for the last 3000 years. Not to be outdone, Sir Malibog sends us his quirky quips that are guaranteed to make some laugh, while offending many.

Coming up next is The Best HHH Events of 2018. If you have not sent in a nomination for your favorite HHH event do it now. We hope to see you at Interhash Fiji in May and some of the other great HHH events in the coming year.

Phoenix Inter- Americas Hash

Papago Park Trail 2017

AMERICA

The Papago Park Trail, Hash on Sunday 8 Oct, hared by Phoenix Hashers, was just a short 20-minute bus ride to the starting point. This projected 5.5-mile trail also had a low “shiggy” level rating, which was another appealing characteristic for participants.

The two buses unloaded their eager hashers, energized by hash songs, on the side of a busy road near an outdoor amphitheater affair. A normal “chalk talk” was presented, while two hares set out to see if any re-marking was needed, after the prior days hashers had traversed this trail. There were of course some runners today; but, I would suggest the majority of the group seemed to be content to walk.

The overall leisurely pace while chatting and taking in the scenery, was possibly due to the bright sunshine and temps in the upper 90's. Initial trail wound thru the park area on gravel paths, bordered by various types of desert shrubbery and surrounded by the reddish colored landscape and out-cropping's. When the first beer check and rest stop was reached, it was at a small pavilion, near a picturesque lake surrounded with stately palm trees.

The 2nd leg of this trail headed straight toward the parks prominent rocky feature with several arches of different sizes along its crest. This gave everyone an opportunity to take photos thru a large arch overlooking the park area they had just departed. There were occasional turkey & eagle splits with the pack again coming back together at the trails 2nd rest stop pavilion. Hashers retrieved their lunches from the buses parked nearby and refreshed themselves with ample cold beverages.

First beer check

We were advised the final leg of today's trail would be approximately another 1.5 miles. As the pack again headed back out and on up another winding gravel path, there seemed to be a noticeable decrease in the everyone's overall energy level, obviously as a result of the days exercise and its "dry heat". Reaching trail marks advising "On In" at yet another thankfully shaded pavilion with much welcomed coolers and various types of snacks was a fine ending for today's Papago Park hash trail.

A lively and somewhat lengthy “Circle” was conducted in a secluded area nearby, away from other park visitors. Several hashers took turns displaying their Religious Advisor talents and of course the Hares were popular choices for recognition. Two small blocks of ice were even on hand, which allowed select hashers to cool themselves, while being honored with a favorite hash song and cold beverage.

On-going circle activities and hash songs.

Hashers heading away from ridgeline, with the large arch.

As 3PM approached, circle was joyously concluded, buses were recalled, the pavilion tidied up and everyone re-boarded their bus, for the short song filled journey back to the venue. Another fine day of hashing, at the 2017 Phoenix Inter-Americas Hash event drew to a close. Dinner of course awaited everyone's arrival back at the hotel.

A big Thank You to everyone connected with mis-Management, all the Hash volunteers, Hotel staff, etc. for an enjoyable and very well managed Inter-America's Hash event, by Hashers and their supportive Kennels.

FRB's pointing out a flour mark after successful check solving.

HASHING IN ABU DHABI

HASHING IN THE DESERT

WITH ABU DHABI H4

by White Trash (ex Goa, Shanghai & Seoul) AUH4

Abu Dhabi is the Capital of the United Arab Emirates – an hour's drive from the glitz and glamour of Dubai. We've been hashing in Abu Dhabi for over 30 years with Abu Dhabi Island H4 having amassed over 2075 runs. Our cousins in Dubai have been around for quite a while as well - Desert Hash hosted their 2,000th run in May this year and the lads on Creek Hash have clocked up around 1,870 runs. Hashing in the UAE is truly alive and well.

Hashing in Abu Dhabi is a mixed affair with our Harriers and Harriettes coming from all the corners of the planet. Most runs feature the odd hash hound as well. We run every Monday starting at 1830 ish. Depending on the time of the year, runs are either at twilight or flashlight runs through the streets and desert in Abu Dhabi. It's hot here with temperatures in the summer getting up to 45c and 90% humidity – that means short, sharp runs (or at least we hope so). In winter we run in a balmy 25c – just perfect for 8kms to 10kms. Depending on the time of year, our pack will vary from 20 to 40 or even more. Runs are always followed by a circle, beer and food.

Abu Dhabi hosts a series of signature runs each year. The most well know is "Rehydration" (or Rehy in its shortened form). Rehy is a party and camp out in the desert featuring a themed run with a number of drink stops in the dunes. The tenth edition of Rehy last year celebrated the best of Rehy, with ten drinks stops including Oktober Fest, Cinco de Mayo, and a very elaborate take on Tropicana, the iconic Havana nightclub. Over 120 hardened souls enjoyed the fun.

Rehy this year was themed “Disasters” and featured stops including an Alien Invasion, an Emergency Ward and American Crime Scene. The drinks ranged from disastrous to delicious and the party rocked into the small hours.

Or other signature run is The Mud Run – and it does what it says on the tin. The mud run is a splash, run and swim in the mangrove swamps outside of Abu Dhabi – totally enthralling and unique. It’s always followed by plenty of beer, a ripping circle, a barbecue and camp out.

Abu Dhabi hash is proud to be the next host of Inter Gulf when over 150 hashers from the region will descend on the Capital from 8 to 10 March 2018. We hope to see you then for fun and sun in the desert.

HASHING IN THE ETHIOPIAN

GREAT RIFT VALLEY

by Julia Stanton

This month Head Mistress travels to the Ethiopian Great Rift Valley lakes with her current kennel, Addis Ababa Hash House Harriers in practice for next year's Ethiopian Mountain Challenge.

In mid-November, I joined my current kennel for a long weekend hash to Hawassa, a city in the Great Rift Valley of central Ethiopia which lies at the eastern edge of the large rift valley lake, Lake Hawassa with its resident hippos and birds of many different species. The journey involved 285km of travelling south of Addis Ababa by the hash bus arriving late afternoon to check into the Gezahegn and Elfenesh resort owned by famous Olympic gold medallist married to a famous marathon runner. (No they didn't come to hash with us as real runners tend to stay away from hashing.)

CONTENTS

The set programme was fairly balanced with time to relax, eat, drink and party. After a big buffet dinner on the first night with plenty of beer, one of the locals virgin hasher invited the hash to his house for an impromptu party with free St George beer supplied by the local brewery. In fact, there were a few locals on the run and with a regular Addis hasher moving to Hawassa soon, this could be the start of another hash chapter.

There was only one hash trail set on Saturday morning which involved the hash bus making its way through some very narrow roads dodging all the donkey carts to Mount Alamura the highest mountain in Hawassa but not too high by the highest Hash in Africa standards used to hashing between 2700 to 3000 metres. This was virgin hash territory for Addis Hash and a very nice trail it was. Dressed in new red shirts featuring a cartoon of one of the resident hippos, the runners were off first while the walkers waiting in the shade of a large tree. However five minutes later they were back again having taken a false trail and then were off up the mountain with the walkers following behind. Luckily there was a lot of shade and the paths were quite clear with not too many thorny bushes.

As we climbed, beautiful sweeping views of Hawassa city and the vast lake could be seen below. We eventually came to a road with some village life. The locals live in round wooden hut and were selling locally produced green coffee beans which some of the hashers bought. Then it on, up again with some runners reaching the top and the walkers mid-way. After that the only way was down and back to the starting point where cold beer was awaiting and a circle was conducted under the shade of a tree where a few local virgins were welcomed and some hashers were charged for their sins such as buying coffee on the run.

Feeling hungry now, the hash bus returned to the resort to be served a large buffet lunch followed by an afternoon of relaxation with some hashers going off on a boat trip to spot hippos followed by a big dinner and party with lots of dancing.

Vientiane is home to one of the smallest HHH communities among the Mekong River countries. Dwarfed in size by its larger neighbors Laos holds its own when it comes to fantastic beer and some darn good hashing. Vientiane recently hosted what some consider one of the best Indochina Mekong Hashes in the history of the event.

Our roving correspondent "Quick Drawers" was there to report his perspectives on this year's event.

Thank you to IMH 2017 participants.

Congrats to Saigon/Nha Trang

The buses for the Medium/Short hash trail, Saturday November 4th, departed from the City Inn Venue point around 1 PM. They proceeded to pass back thru the center of Vientiane, to a start location on the other side of town. Everyone got themselves bottled water and then listened to trail specific information from the Hare. Completion of the following typical hash aerobic exercises had the pack off onto dirt trails, leading into the bush. Several tricky checks later found the pack was crossing the same road the buses had initially arrived on.

A steep embankment beside a local roadside establishment served as a choke point for the pack, as they waited their turn to slowly descend into the rocky creek bed below. Trail continued thru narrow paths with grasses growing overhead of passing hashers. Once again reaching the same main road, trail continued alongside it for a short distance, before again veering off onto more dirt paths. Those paths then led into and thru a factory area making red bricks. Reddish powder throughout the brick yard was 2 inches deep and it didn't take long for the pack to get a good portion of it airborne! This was one occasion where one of those small mouth and nose masks would have been welcomed!

The final portion of trail passed a temple undergoing renovation and led thru what appeared to be an old park of some sort with numerous decrepit sculptures along with two large Buddha statues being somewhat better maintained.

Hashers on in to finish.

Start equaled finish on these runs and this On In site was also used for those hashers completing the Long trail. Plentiful ice-cold beverages in large coolers, fresh fruit, sandwiches, snacks, etc. greeted hashers at the finish. On hand were also several, ever present, enterprising Kennels offering their goods for sale.

Today's somewhat short but entertaining circle was centered around 4 huge blocks of ice and of course numerous hashers all had the opportunity to refresh themselves during their recognition and reward process. The weather for today's trail was on the hot side but not excessive so that worked out well.

This was a well-organized hash run and everyone appreciated the work put into making this hash and the overall event such a success. Thanks to all the organizers and volunteers for making this a memorable event. One well worth the travel time to get to.

You will get to your hotel in the Sukhumvit area of Thailand's Capital in the afternoon. The run will start about 4:30pm, and will be a city run taking in some of the more "scenic" parts of this party town.

Sunday 9th Sept

Depart mid-morning by coach to Pattaya (a beach town about 90 mins drive away) where we will go initially to the hotel. The run will start about 4pm and be in the great hashing territory in the countryside around Pattaya.

Monday 10th Sept

Depart for Hua Hin by ferry mid-morning, and arrive on the other side of the Gulf of Thailand in just over two hours. Mid-afternoon we run with H2H3 in the hills and dales around Hua Hin (Royal Seaside town).

We will board the Rumble sleeper train about 10pm, and depart for Hat Yai

Tuesday 11th Sept

Arriving in Hat Yai in the morning, you will be taken to your hotel after which you will have time to explore the town before the run in the afternoon.

Wednesday 12th September

We will board the train from Hat Yai in the morning, cross the Thai/Malaysia border and head to Ipoh, half way down the Malaysian peninsular, arriving mid afternoon, and into a run amidst the limestone monoliths which dominate the countryside.

Overnight in a local hotel

Thursday 13th Sept

Depart Ipoh mid-morning, arriving in Kuala Lumpur early afternoon, in time for you to head to your own hotels, and prepare for the Green run that afternoon. Rumble ends.

The various locations will include long, medium and short runs to suit all tastes and abilities. There will be short periods of “free time” at most locations, and I will endeavor to provide you with a list of things you could do/see in the time available in later communications.

What's included

Hotels in Bangkok, Pattaya, Hat Yai and Ipoh. These will be 4 star establishments, with breakfast included.

Transportation. You just have to get yourself to the Bangkok hotel, and from the Kuala Lumpur Sentral Station (to your selected hotel) – all other transportation requirements associated with the Rumble are included. Excluded are any taxi or side trips you may want to take during your “spare” time.

All meals, except lunches. We shall endeavor to provide a selection for all tastes. Evening meals will be provide at the On On's and will generally be in the form of buffets.

All run fee's, and run goodies, including beer after the runs and at the On On. A goodie bag.

Beers on the train, but not those on the coach and ferry due to legal constraints regarding booze on public transport in Thailand.

What's Excluded

Your travel costs to the hotel in Bangkok.

Lunches (except where indicated)

Your personal expenses

Your taxi fare from Sentral Station in Kuala Lumpur, to your hotel.

Obtaining any visa's that you may require for travelling in either Thailand or Malaysia. Most countries are “visa on arrival” (without fee's) in both countries – but it's your responsibility to check.

The Rumble is open to all (yes you don't need balls to Rumble) but due to constraints, we can only accommodate 400 pax, so its going to be first come first serve.

Those who were on the original “Rumble” – I believe, enjoyed the fun, the hardships, the runs, the comradery, the f*ck ups. I can only hope to repeat it for the chosen few.

To get things going, and to ensure we can get “Critical mass” – I attach a form for you to fill in to pre-register for the Rumble. The costs will be not be more than US$550. The actual costs will be dependent on interest, the more coming, the less it will be.

Get registering.

Philippines Hash Bash 2019 PALAWAN March 8-9-10

Press Release:

Next month I will travel to Busuanga-Coron in Palawan to start the process of dis-organising the 2019 event. Unfortunately, though many hash bashers want me to arrange an event in Palawan during March 2018 that will not happen.

To arrange a really superb hash bash takes time and ideally I should live at Busuanga-Coron for a period of time before arranging the event (especially if it will have a 4th day of beer-fuelled island hopping).

So relax, go to Interhash Fiji next year, and get set for a truly spectacular 10th Philippines Hash Bash in Palawan on March 8-9-10 (and 11) 2019.

ALD JONES TOUCHED MY CARROT CLAIMS SNOWMAN

CONTENTS

Ald Jones, 46-year-old presenter of Songs Of Praise and former choirboy, was suspended by The BBC last following allegations of 'inappropriate conduct'.

The allegations are reported to have been made by former acting star, The Snowman, who shot to fame following the 1982 televised adaptation of Raymond Briggs' book of the same name.

A statement was released by Mr. Snowman's lawyer earlier today: "My client is alleging inappropriate conduct by Mr. Jones, following an incident in Christmas 2011. Mr.

Snowman is coming forward with this information in the hopes of preventing similar abuses of other fictional characters."

Though no details have yet been released, it is thought that Mr Jones made lewd remarks to Mr. Snowman regarding his carrot, specifically asking whether he could gobble it down as part of his 5-a-day, before taking hold of it and rubbing it suggestively. Mr. Snowman fell on hard times shortly after his big break, managing only to find occasional seasonal work for the next 15 years. In 1998 he landed a role in Troy Miller's Jack Frost, but a tempestuous affair with co-star Kelly Preston ultimately led to complications on set, which saw him being deleted from the movie and replaced by Michael Keaton.

Snowman was asked to appear in the followup, The Snowman And The Snowdog, and it is believed that the alleged offence took place during a pre-production meeting at the The BBC. The Snowdog could not be reached for comment.

A BBC spokesperson told us that while she couldn't comment directly during the on-going investigation, she could confirm that "children gaze open mouthed, taken by surprise" and that "nobody down below believes their eyes."

SWEDISH VIKINGS KNOCK ITALY OUT OF WORLD CUP

The Swedes are looking forward to cheering on their team at the World Cup and we were not late in posting our tributes on the Berserkers Full Moon Fb page.

However it seems that this Congratulation image was mistakenly shared onto the Stockholm Hash House Harriers Fb page.

But not to worry as it was deleted within 5 mins for not being representative of the Stockholm Hash by the benevolent censoring authorities that be..... and quite rightly so. Goodness me, this type of post has no place in the Stockholm Hash facebook page. It is just not politically correct. Just think of all those poor souls that could be offended by making comments like this. To use the Stockholm Hash fB page as a vehicle to congratulate the Swedish National team on a fabulous result is definitely NOT ON.

The SH3 Fb page must stay clear of all such posts and it must maintain its most strict political correctness standards. Good gracious me ... whatever next. Thank goodness for censorship and authoritarian thought control.

IN A RELATED INCIDENT

IT HAD TO HAPPEN

It's only been a few weeks since the sexual assault allegations against media mogul Harvey Weinstein, Kevin Spacey, Donald Duck and George H.W. Bush the 41st president of the United States exploded into public view. Since then there have been new allegations made against other powerful men in various industries seemingly almost every day.

London Police are now hunting for man who 'repeatedly pinched woman's bottom' in South London pub during 1980's. A spokesperson for Metropolitan Police has confirmed that detectives are currently looking for a man who 'repeatedly pinched a woman's bottom' in a South London pub on various occasions during the 1980's. They have urged anyone who may recognise the individual to come forward.

Detective Inspector Roy Slater added: 'We only have limited information so far, but a lady has come forward and made these historical allegations that we must investigate thoroughly.'

'We know that he may have been an unlicensed market trader, and also that he often made a 'whistling sound' while carrying out this activity.'

'According to our intelligence, he also used sexist language on a number of occasions, referring to a male family member as a 'tart', a 'plonker' and accusing his wife of being a 'dozy mare.' 'Just because this behaviour may have been acceptable at the time doesn't mean that it cannot be grossly unacceptable now, and this is why we are looking to speak with him as a matter of urgency.'

PIECE OF ICEBERG THAT SANK THE TITANIC AUCTIONED FOR MILLIONS

One of the last known pieces of the iceberg that sank the Titanic is being auctioned off in London next week.

Expected to fetch over £2 million, the unique piece of memorabilia will be the star of the show at the Christie's sale. Auctioneers are under strict instructions on how to display the tennis-ball-sized piece of ice after an unfortunate incident three years ago.

Then, to the horror of a worldwide audience, a piece of Titanic iceberg melted under the lights while being held aloft by an auctioneer in New York.

That mistake cost the Smythe-Withson auction house hundreds of thousands of dollars in compensation.

Christie's has assured the owner of the ice, who lives in East Sussex in the UK, that their staff will display it in a special cool box to prevent loss.

The "unsinkable" Titanic sank in the North Atlantic during its maiden voyage in April, 1912. More than 1,500 of the 2,224 passengers and crew died after it hit the iceberg in the early morning, before tipping up and slipping below the waves.

Survivors scrambled on lifeboats and floating wreckage – and some famously pocketed blocks of the ice as a ghoulish souvenir. Most of the mementos have been lost in time, but some survived for years.

The piece up for auction next week is believed to be one of the last of perhaps three pieces in the world, hence the extraordinary price. Auction expert Rose DeWitt Bukater said: "Collectors worldwide will be scrambling to snap up a piece of maritime history – and a small block of ice that shocked the world – and even starred in its own film.

"The ice will easily exceed the £2 million reserve."

Although the owner of the ice is not being named officially, it is thought to be a certain Mr Titianus Dick, from Stockholm Sweden, whose great-grandfather survived the Titanic disaster.

He refused to comment today, saying only: "I had a sinking feeling someone would identify me as the owner."

THE STOCKHOLM BERSERKERS FULL MOON GOES UNDERGROUND
HARED BY SIR MALIBOG - BLACKEBERG 6th SEPTEMBER 2017

Underground Run number 1198 required the hash to negotiate their way from Blackeberg Underground Station to Oliviers Krog. Be very suspicious of restaurants that have no website – the first hit on Google is rather disconcertingly entitled, "Sexorgier på "BB"- stjärnans krog".

Sir MaliBog set us off with his usual chalk talk, and the promise that since it was a built-up area that it would be a city run. Some people even believed him, despite his regular rants railing against the current lazy propensity for setting runs in urban areas. Bad Pitt providing his usual storage service and we were on our way.

The pack was smaller than perhaps normal. Despite summer being over there were several regulars not attending. This made the run quieter than usual – no Mite or Brother clans to disturb peace and quiet. In addition, we had the novel sight of Titan Dick mixing with the walkers

No particular shenanigans are recalled on the run - mainly because this scribe is trying to remember what happened several weeks after the event, and at the best of times can't usually remember what he did yesterday. It was a typical Sir Malibog run, though: not much distance, but lots of elevation clambering. No doubt the back of the pack rarely saw the front of the pack, while Sprintosaurus coordinated events at each check-point then scuttled off into the distance as per normal. What I do recall is a lovely viewpoint check overlooking the lake, spoilt by the sight of Blow Queen checking it out in the far distance down by the lakeshore.

The drink stop eventually came, in a lovely picnic spot by the lake with cheap licorice chocolate and even cheaper beer. The ladies who love to walk and talk were lost and late (Red Horse & Co), necessitating frantic phone calls to the hare and a barrage of sarcastic comments when they eventually hove into view.

The internet tells us that the forest we were aimlessly running up and down like the Grand Old Duke of York was called Grimstaskogen. Grim by name and grim by nature, especially as the approaching winter meant that the pack was eager to head off before the onset of darkness.

No one was really prepared for nightfall, despite this being a combined SUH3 and Berserkers Underground Full Moon hash. Once the pack had all returned safely, the circle was gathered and the usual miscreants and loudmouths punished before the warm beer ran out. Witticisms abounded, and everyone unanimously agreed that it had been a splendid evening of exercise and camaraderie.

Your scribe bugged off before the pleasures of the On In were experienced, but we can guess that there was the usual scramble to get to the front of the queue to order some obscure IPA, followed by some wholly mediocre and waistline-enhancing food.OnOn Ali Wank Bonk

SIR ELTON JOHN INSISTS HE'S NOT SUICIDAL

Sir Elton John has reassured President Trump that he is "feeling absolutely fine" and is not having suicidal thoughts. Mr Trump told stunned delegates at the United Nations that Rocket Man "was on a suicide mission for himself and his regime".

But Sir Elton insisted this was "rubbish", and that he actually has lots to look forward to, such as his raising his young children and trousering huge royalty cheques.

In a statement today he said: "I noted with disappointment that President Trump chose to use his address to the UN to tell the world I am close to ending it all.

Well that's rubbish. I want my millions of fans to know that I'm feeling absolutely fine and having the time of life.

"I've got so much to live for with my beautiful children, and my husband and I do so much with them.

"Only last weekend we took them to Vicarage Road to see my team Watford play Manchester City. "OK, we lost 6-0 and I felt pretty depressed by that, but otherwise all is good"

Sir Elton, famous for his 1972 hit Rocket Man, hopes he will get an invite to speak to the United Nations in New York so he can set the record straight.

TALES FROM THE LOO

Elderly man's fury as new loo 'urinal' covers him in pee
An elderly man has complained about the "newfangled urinal" in a public loo – which sprayed him with urine.

Derek Beavis, 78, was horrified when he used the public convenience off George Street in Hove, because it covered him with his own pee.

The retired teacher, pictured above with the offending item, said: "I saw this newfangled urinal attached to the wall. It was an odd shape but I put that down to everything having to look cool these days. And to be honest I was a bit desperate, so I didn't look too closely.

"When I began to relieve myself it made a noise like a jet engine and then all this air came out with such force that it sprayed me all over with my own pee. It covered my coat, my trousers and even went all over my face. Trouble is, once I start I can't stop, so I had to stand there until I had finished. Luckily it was raining outside, so nobody noticed that I was soaking wet as I made my way back home. I got some odd looks on the bus, though, and nobody seemed to want to sit next to me."

Mr Beavis said he complained to Sussex County Council, but was told the urinal was not faulty, but was in fact a high-speed Airblade hand Dyson dryer.

Lucky pensioner Gladys Phillips didn't panic when she was locked in a public toilet for four days – she settled down to knit a scarf and munched on a packet of mint imperials. Gladys, 82, was out shopping in Worthing when, feeling the need to answer a call of nature, she visited a newly installed public loo off Station Road.

But she was unaware the hi-tech convenience had not yet been officially opened to the public, and after forcing her way inside the door locked tight behind her.

It was not until FOUR days later when workmen came to finish off the painting that Gladys was found sitting on the loo finishing off the last few stitches of her pink scarf.

"I was not really concerned at first when I couldn't get out," Gladys said. "In fact I was just relieved I'd managed to go to the loo!

"I kept banging on the door and walls, and shouting for help, but obviously no one could hear me. I realised I had to tough it out, and so I sat on the loo and began knitting.

"Luckily I had just been to the shops and picked up a new ball of pink wool, so I began making a scarf, which one of my lucky grandchildren will now get for Christmas.

"I had also popped into the sweet shop after collecting my pension, so I had a full bag of mint imperials to eat which kept my spirits up no end.

"The loo was very clean and cosy. I was able to sleep on my big overcoat and was lovely and warm, and if I got cold I just sat under the hand dryer for a while.

"It was a great relief when the nice builder turned up and opened the door. He got quite a shock, I can tell you."

A Worthing town councillor insider said: "We're glad Gladys is none the worse for her ordeal. The fact that she was quite happy in the loo for four days does, however, show how modern and hi-tech it is."

The convenience is now open to the general public, but Gladys has promised not to stop for a cup of tea on future shopping trips, just in case she gets caught short again.

IRISH TO CHEER ON ENGLAND AT WORLD CUP

The Irish are looking forward to cheering on England at the World Cup now that their own team has been eliminated, it has been confirmed.

Ireland lost to Denmark in a play-off meaning they will not go to Russia to compete in the World Cup next summer. Now the Irish will turn their affections to the English, who have long been their second favourite team. Football fan Dermot O'Leary, 37, from Dublin, said: "Everyone here loves the cheeky-chappy English, with their sense of humour and endearing sporting attitude. During the World Cup bars across Ireland will be packed with locals roaring on the Three Lions and belting out the English National Anthem.

It certainly takes some of the pain away from our own heartbreaking elimination." Ireland played Denmark in Dublin after drawing 0-0 in the first leg of the tense play-off in Copenhagen. Yet despite scoring first, the men in green went on to lose 5-1, meaning it is the Danes who will be enjoying their summer in Russia. A pub landlord in Cork said: "There were a few long faces tonight, but then someone mentioned the English got to the World Cup and everyone cheered up. "They are everyone's favourite second team. We all celebrate St George's Day and everything."

FA orders extra ox carts for team and fans going to Moscow next year

The FA has thoughtfully laid on extra transport for England to attend their three games next year.

The FA has ordered the Krakow Ox Cart Company to prepare 23 wagons to take the Three Lions and supporters down the A140 and across the channel on ferries.

A FA spokesman said: "It's the biggest 3 games of the year for England who are desperate to see their side equal their three games in the last World Cup in Brazil.

The FA being financially strapped at the moment after paying enormous sums to its directors fortunately has shares in the Polish Ox Cart Company and was able to get a special deal for the fans.

FOREIGNERS WITH CITIZENSHIP MUST SUPPORT ENGLAND

Foreigners with british citizenship must support England in the World Cup football finals, it's the law. A Brazilian woman and her south african friend, who have both recently attained British citizenship, have been reported to the authorities after announcing that they will be supporting Brazil in the football.

Artemisa Yousir, originally from Forteleza on the North East coast of Brazil, made the announcement this morning. Ms Yousir and her South African friend Anzelle De Freightrain were immediately reported to the authorities for being in contravention of the rules governing their British citizenship. These rules clearly state that, once a foreign national has been granted British citizen status, they MUST support England (which takes precedent over the other home nations) in the football.

Colonel William Beard from MI7 informed the waiting reporters, "We take these lapses in citizenship very seriously. We've developed a new technique which we employ in cases such as these. We call it Crumpetboarding.

"It's the British version of what the Americans call Waterboarding and we find it very effective indeed," Colonel Beard explained. "During Crumpetboarding, Earl Gray tea is poured over a lace doily covering the face and breathing passages of an immobilized captive who has had a buttered crumpet stuffed into their mouth, causing the individual to experience the sensation of extreme Englishness.

"We expect Yousir and De Freightrain to be wearing twin sets and pearls before the end of the day"

The use of Crumpetboarding is expected to be extended to include such lapses in citizenship as not standing for the National Anthem, not wearing a poppy on Remembrance Sunday and not placing all your savings in an offshore bank account.

Ox carts, which are considered hi-tech in Russia, would follow the dirt tracks Napoleon used some 200 years ago.

A Moscow Police spokesman said: "There would be no problem once they got into Russia because there's no other road traffic up here. But in Europe they will come across cars, lorries and other means of modern transport, and ox carts are slow and do not have lights." The 23 Ox carts are scheduled to leave Wembley at 6am on Sunday, eight weeks before the opening Ceremonies which should get them to their first game before the match starts. Russian fans are urged not to throw rotten fruit at the English team/supporters supporters as they trundle into town.

THE STOCKHOLM ABSOLUT FULL MOON BERSERKERS HASH HARED BY SIR MALIBOG & LADY RED HORSE - SAT 4th NOV 2017

When I first run the Stockholm Hash way back in time I'd been warned that they were trails and there were Malibog trails.

My first hash was a wonderful mud-fest giving nothing of that reputation away and in time I came to realise that the Malibog trails were more like long outward-bound courses fit for only the military.

Over the years stories have come out of the woodwork, one of my favourite being of how, after a series of progressively harder and longer runs he lost most of the pack in a muddy swamp, over the years other hares have been apparently trying to outdo each other to set Malibog type trail with much considerable success.

The gauntlet was down for serial hasher Malibog for longest and hardest hash of the year, but almost unbelievably he swerved the question completely by setting a reasonably well-marked trail of just about the right distance albeit with the usual complications, highway road works, steep muddy embankments, an underground car-park, crossing a main road and a railway bridge leading to nowhere!

Having entered upon the railway bridge at the end of the rails the pack crossed and nearing the other side we were astonished to see a train coming in our direction whereas we all froze wondering what to do, too far to jump down so we made a hasty run back to where we started.

Only then did we realize that the tracks ended there and the 'train' was in fact some sort of track laying machine behind a barrier in the tunnel, but it was dark in there and all we could see were the headlights.

After slivering back down the embankment we continued upon the second half of the trail, up a steep hill at Belview park, a view stop and then down again to reach Roslagsvägen which we followed for about 200 metres and then mingled in and out of the houses and paths belonging to the veterinary institution eventually coming to another railway bridge, this one with live trains but this was all fenced off with high wire, Malibog explained later that he had often in the past used the small foot walk across the bridge but since the reconstruction of the line had made this impossible.

So the trail led back down Roslagsvägen under another railway bridge then to the slippery rocky heights on the other side Belview Park. Which in turn led over the main road, another climb where the Drink Stop was waiting with whiskey spiced glögg. (burnt wine)

A short hop and a skip and we were all back at the on home at the Maison Cheval Rouge and it was decided not to venture out into the cold, rather having the circle in the warmth of the living room.

So down downs went to the hare Malibog for the trail and to Red Horse for the luvly food, and the newcomer to the hash was awarded the envious reputation on having not one but two Mother Hashes, this being a dual run.

A certain 'Just' was called into the circle by Malibog who was christened 'GET SHORTY' for his remarkable un-likeness to Danny De Vito and wearing the shortest of shorts in the near arctic climes of a Swedish autumn.

Followed by a spicy dish from Red Horse and an old English favorite, Bread Pudding, all lovingly washed down by ample beers, wines and Philippine brandy..... On On

EXTRACTS AND CITATIONS FROM THE DIRTY DOSIER

The United Kingdom was very giddy to learn today that there are just 3,617 parliamentary sex scandals left to be revealed before Christmas.

Santa Claus has already put the finishing touches to the naughty and nice list, and is reportedly feeling a little more soiled than usual after reading the Conservatives "Dirty Dossier".

Parliamentarians have already started shopping for gifts for parliamentary aides and secretaries but most are now a little stumped with what to get them now that rohypnol and dildos are considered "officially inappropriate."

"What on Earth do you buy your 25 year old personal assistant?" An unnamed International Trade Minister asked our reporter. "If all the usual gifts are off the table such as saucy underwear, bondage gear, KY Jelly and unwanted sexual advances, what on Earth do you get them? It's a real conundrum."

Steve Dickinson, 42 and a half, from Rochdale added: "The countdown to Christmas has begun in earnest. We're ticking off almost 72 parliamentary sexual assault and harassment claims a day between now and the big day."

"My advent calendar has 1,500 windows on it this year, the kids are very excited. But to be fair they're too young to understand what the pictures behind the little chocolates mean."

POOH DENIES GROOMING ALLEGATIONS

AGING ENTERTAINER WINNIE THE POOH IS IN THE HEADLINES AGAIN AS YET ANOTHER SCANDAL DOGS HIM.

The bear, who was linked to a series of historical allegations uncovered by Operation Toytree, is accused in this latest controversy of grooming a young penguin.

"We have received a serious accusation that Mr The Pooh has taken pains to befriend this penguin," said Chief Inspector Trumpton of Hundred Acre Woods Constabulary, "Further, that he took said penguin, without parental consent, into the woods. We have seen pictures that seem to confirm this. There are of course further details that I cannot divulge while an investigation is ongoing but I can say that Mr The Pooh is currently helping us with our enquiries."

The 90 year old bear wasn't available for comment but a spokeswoman for solicitors Robin, Crooks and Baggit gave a statement this afternoon: "Mr The Pooh strongly denies these allegations. Just as when the so-called Roo allegations came out my client knew they were false because he's innocent."

Reporters asked about the Piglet case, which was settled out of court two years ago and is still subject to a gagging order, but the spokeswoman said that his client had never been found guilty of any wrongdoing.

Swedish Socialist MP claims he was researching book on whether breasts make noises like clown horns. Leading MP speaks out after being named in the Dirty Dossier. The Swedish local Member of Parliament for Stockholm, Roger 'the Rogerer' Mogert, has given a public statement after being named in the so called "Dirty Dossier".

The "Dirty Dossier" as our readers may be aware is the family newspaper friendly version of what government sources term the Shitty Spreadsheet of Shits being Shit Sexually.

'Roving Roger', former member of the Socialdemokrat Gropping Team, is named as having engaged in inappropriate sexual conduct with a number of female researchers, a member of his constituency married to a local journalist, a minor member of the Royal Family, Mona Sahlin (God forbid) and a bull mastiff. It is not clear at the time of going to press whether these were separate incidents.

Speaking today at a press conference, Roger the Rogerer read out the following statement:

"As with all cases of alleged sexual misconduct, it is imperative that we move the focus away from supposed victims. Erasing the memory of them is the best way to avoid putting them under undue stress.

However, it is of fundamental import that we preserve the reputation of the Swedish Parliament for what it is.

"As such, I am more than happy to go on record. First, I would note that some stories you may or may not hear about Members of Parliament are clearly fabricated.

The notion that we must all pay the price for things we may or may not have done whilst sloshed, whilst wearing a comedy clown wig, or both, is a foul one.

"I accept, however, that on several occasions, with the full, unreserved, implicit deemed consent of participants, I have squeezed the breasts of a number of women over the course of the last few years. I have done so, on some occasions silently and on some occasions whilst making the noise "a ha hee ha hee" akin to a clown horn, and on other occasions, and mark my words for these have great import, I have been silent but I have detected the breasts themselves emitting this "a ha hee ha hee" sound."

"Hold still. Let me put my hand on your knee to steady you. There we go dear, see? This was of course all as part of research for a book I am in the process of writing."

MEET TWO TWO OTHER HASH KENNELS IN SWEDEN

THE GOTHENBURG HASH

Puke Run Shiggy and wet, that is Puke Run, 8 runners showed up and two lost wankers in full running regalia.

This time there were a few more stops in favor of the new Puke tradition. A short run from the take-off we stopped at the Holy Puke House where the Hare informed the runners of What Puke really are. One history says that the knight Puke had built the house.

Check-Back, Fish Hook, Tits Check and other markings was shown. Once again we set off for a short run to the border of the forest where we stopped at the marking Gear Stop.

To safely do this Puke event it was announced to be prepared for slippy, wet forest full of elk hunters. Spikes on shoes, whistle and first aid for gun shot wounds. They all thought the Hare was joking.

The Wankers, Swinging Tits and Four 'n' Twenty, volunteered for Hash Quack but they took a walk in another direction. Pisspots. On we went up, up in the shiggies.

Coming to the first off-road deep shit the FRB's just went around it. Knee deep only but bushy we soon went on to the next swamp area that couldn't be avoided. At the end of the swamped valley a rock stopped any running. Here an arrow pointed upwards but some dots could be found for the less daring runners. No pisspots here, all took the more dangerous climbing trail.

A fishhook let FRB Just Anders meet up the SRB's and soon we ran as a pack again. A double crossing of a stream was skipped by FRB Less Be Honest and Just Lisa and they got their down down for that in the circle.

After a short while BS was signalled. Beer and water for all. On-On again after the quick beer stop and after a Tit Check (These cold nights bring those little buggers to the front) we went through the last muddy area. coming close to civilisation, FRB left the trail and took a short cut to On-In. SRB Just Martin, complaining of hangoover, did however find the correct way and a muddy trail later, On-In was heard after about 8km and the last part in semi-darkness.

The Hare started the circle and everyone got a monkey brain in the hand. The runners were told to kneel down and with a sword all got knighted Puke Runner. Down-down the monkey brain got. GM Shrimp Spew took the lead and delivered quickly loads of down-downs. Naming: Horror Just Embla got the name Dot Spotter and Just Martin became Whole Shit after some discussions.

Circle closed and after some quick showers pea-soup with punsch was served. Party went on all night and there were some possible evidence of Puke. A bunch of hashers found places for sleep-over. A true Puke Run...

Hats off for GMOn the Scribe/Hairy Nuts

THE LUDVIKA HASH

This nice autumn Saturday we gathered for this year's Red Dress, charity event. Nice, that's really rainy, it's good that autumn should be? :)

We were 11 at the time, 12 when we immediately left us in the woods and 15 when we came back;) And another one had been out in the rain but did not find the starting point: (Vote on Facebook where the surplus would go had lasted a while, and there were even a few alternatives, among them Alvin's Clinic Kanungo Uganda.

We went from the resting place beyond Skuthamn, across the highway, and then the track went out into the woods up, up, up to the wind shelter where we had the view stop with adorable views of Ludvika and ABB and also gathered us for a group photo. Then further up to the mining holes of Ickorbotten, back and forth over the highway and home via the cycle path along Väsman.

The circle started with Hararna Super Chilli and Pooh Girl. Even Incognito had been with the banana but could not participate.

Then it was time for a meal and we squeezed ourselves together during one of the rain showers at the resting place. Super Chilli had cooked herb soup for a whole company and for the mustard, crispbread, butter and cheese. Then also coffee and cake! It was nice, warm and warm in the autumn weather and an energy kick ahead of a long winter without Ludvika H3:)

THE LUDVIKA FOOL MOON HASH

This year's second and fifth since we started in 2014

We met outside Pitcher's before starting and found that Hare Morena Tropicana had thrown in the towel and went to autumn holidays. However, preparations were made and Mooseman took over the implementation, a so-called team work, but it is awaiting a Sinner DD at the time :)

We were 11 Hashers, which was a record in these contexts and it was nice autumn weather. However, it had begun to cloud the full moon, we did not see the glimpse of it;)

Then we started centrally and rounded the Sport Stadium towards the big roundabout where we had a first Drink Stop in the tunnel under Riksvägen. A quick shot Jägermeister before heading east to the new ICA and Willys Supermarkets.

Further down to Vallagatan where a second Drink Stop was located with steamed hot coffee, (optional) spotted with Scottish whiskey (mandatory).

After two more checks we turned up to the church school and in Stadsparken at the Pavilion we performed the Circle and then follows the closest route back to Pitcher's.

Seven down-downs were cleared and there was free choice of strong beer and non-alcoholic fine beer, the latter sponsored by Jonny Walker, who were car drivers.

We then proceeded to Pitcher's where our booked table was waiting for us. It became food and drink of different varieties, yes, just a nice evening. Thanks for this time, thanks for the event and well met again next time it's Full Moon, it's perfect with a little pub round then when all Xmas presents are over.

QUEEN & PRINCE PHILIP CELEBRATE 70TH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY 'PEASANT HUNTING'

In typical royal family fashion, the Queen of England and her husband Prince Philip took to one of their many country estates this afternoon to hunt some peasants as part of a celebration of their 70 years of marriage together.

"Pull," yelled the Duke of Edinburgh as royal aides launched a 33-year-old peasant from a human catapult, sending him forty feet into the air before Phillip pummelled him with buckshot pellets.

The British monarch and her husband were married on 20th November 1947 when they were still Princess Elizabeth and Lieutenant Philip Mountbatten, at Westminster Abbey in the heart of London, at a time when the number of peasants were at epidemic proportions following World War II.

"They were a lot skinnier back in my day," her majesty, Queen Elizabeth commented, "of course, malnutrition was rife back then; now all the peasants are fat from eating poor quality, cheap supermarket food, and sugary drinks," she added, now adding a freshly killed peasant with a stick, "this fat pudding will keep the corgis going for weeks".

Along with shooting under privileged British citizens, the couple are expected to visit the Royal Mint later today where they will pose naked and embrace for a new 70th edition coin to celebrate their anniversary together.

Don't know about you but we need a fat drink and a disquisition after reading these adorable revelations.

Queen Elizabeth has no peers in our eyes. One hundred years after the Great Famine, she released 'God Save The Punks' to celebrate her other annus horribilis to Prince Philip.

Taken from her long playing 'Never Mind The Peasants - Here's One's M16 Pistols' it was a plea made to her subjects to embrace the hunt with a bit of that renowned British steel.

'It's either you oafs or the bloody foxes' she warned the population and with that, the debate was decided. Phil and Lizzy (aka Sid and Nancy) have been known to bring a sense of anarchy to the monarchy with their complete disregard for the vast amount of spent cartridges that clutter the countryside.

But if you're lucky enough to have survived the hunt, it's rumoured that by watching the Her Majesty's 1992 speech with the sound turned down you'll clearly see her lip synch to 'Dark Side Of The Moor'.

Thank God they have some class in an otherwise imperfect aborrational deluded world. But they haven't had it easy neither. But we do like their great sense of humour and above all, we find it hard to find a better example, of iconic headship and faithful marriage fidelity as well, that is so difficult to instill in a new generation of people.

May God continued to protect and bless them as true charismatic and sentient human beings!

Gran finds another painting of Jesus 'worth $450 million'

Brighton grandmother Beryl Lynch claims she has uncovered another painting of Jesus worth $450 million, it has emerged. Mrs Lynch made the incredible discovery days after a Leonardo da Vinci portrait of Christ sold for the jaw-dropping figure at auction. "I was looking in a skip in Hove yesterday when I saw the picture of Jesus poking out from under an old lawn mower.

"Only hours earlier I had read about the da Vinci selling for $450 million, and then this image came to me.

"I'm not religious at all, but this was a miracle."

Mrs Lynch, 77, said her painting, portraying a bearded, long-haired Christ in a fetching blue tunic with red sash, was surely worth just as much as the one sold at Christies in New York this week.

"Finding my picture was a sign from above," Mrs Lynch, a retired post office worker said.

"The painting is unsigned and was not framed, but you can tell from the quality of the work that it is a priceless masterpiece. It dates back well over 2,000 years."

She has not yet taken her portrait to an art expert, and insists they "do not really know what they are talking about anyway".

Instead, she is thinking of taking it to Christies auctioneers in Brighton to put in their next sale. "I'm not greedy or anything, but I can't help looking at new houses and cars. And I could really do with a nice holiday."

---anon---

Fury over cheeky Christmas advert

Meanwhile Controversy surrounds the release of the Brighton's Local TV Christmas advert which features a rude Santa.

In the advert Father Christmas opens his famous red coat on the A23 and shows his finger to welcome London visitors and displays his Christmas baubles for all to see. The endearing scene is accompanied by the Flash soundtrack by Queen. But the poo-faced people of London have taken offence to the advert, and called in television standards watchdogs to investigate. "This is typical of the humourless people who live in London commented a member of the Brighton Hash .

THE END

Still another 4 weeks to go
And I'm knackered already
Give me another beer
And don't wait up for me

New Orleans RDR

by CIA

New Orleans, Louisiana is hot in the summer. Some might even say damn hot! Or as one Harriette put it to me, "it's hot as balls here!" To which I responded, "and how exactly do you know that?".. She said "trust me, I know".. Too much information, perhaps? I decided I didn't need further details.

But she's right. It is hot as sweaty balls in August. But I digress.

The purpose of this missive isn't to discuss New Orleans weather or sweaty balls but rather an event which takes place the second weekend in August called the New Orleans red dress run. Now in its 23rd year, the event has morphed into a major spectacle that raises well over $100,000 dollars for local New Orleans charities. Several thousand sign up to do this thing of which only a small fraction are hashers. This year, there were roughly 500 hashers (which makes it a major hash event) and 4000 non- hashers! There are also a significant number of so called bandits who pay nothing, but they put on a red dress and party in the French quarter.

Red dress run weekend has evolved over the years. In its first ten years, it was a small event and was just your typical hash event. That changed after hurricane Katrina. The event started growing and many charities began recognizing it for the contributions it provided them. Last year, approximately 70 local charities received donations. The city, of course, also benefits. Millions of dollars are pumped into the local economy and its now considered a mini Mardi Gras.

There are two parts to RDR weekend: the hash part (for registered hashers only) and the red dress run part (which takes place on Saturday). Many NO RDR veterans consider the party to start on Thursday when the voodoo hash puts on their annual red skirt run. This usually attracts over 100 hashers. The theme is wear a red skirt. This is an event that is low key compared to the rest of the weekend.

Friday is the official start to RDR weekend. The theme for the hashers only run is red lingerie. This is a real run, not a pub crawl. Location start varies from year to year, as does the finish, but lately it's been ending at the house of blues in the French quarter. Of course, there are lots of extra credit stops in the quarter with the party carrying on at various bars after it winds down at the house of blues.

Saturday is the big day: the red dress run..it actually is a real run though few people run it. It starts around 11 am. The course is about a mile and a half. The route varies from year to year as the event has evolved. For the last few years, the venue has been Armstrong park with the course going into the French quarter down bourbon street and back along Esplanade. This year, the venue changed to crescent park which is on the edge of the French quarter along the Mississippi River. I like the new venue. Access to the park is via a bridge above the railroad tracks which helps keep the bandits (non registrants) out. It also has a large open air roof structure which can handle a few thousand people. This is really good as it's normally quite hot in NOLA this time of year.

Due to the new venue, the course changed yet again. This year, the route went down esplanade, then rampart, (big beer stop on rampart!) and then into the French quarter. It did not go down bourbon street this year but it did cross it. Of course, lots of people do their own thing stopping at numerous bars along the way. Even with a lengthy beer stop, you can finish the course in an hour.

Afterwards, the venue is split into two areas: one for hashers which can be viewed as a VIP section, and the other area for non hashers. The hasher section has its own beer stand, portable toilets, and food section. So this is where you want to be to avoid long lines.

At the far end of the venue is a stage for live musical entertainment. They always have two local bands playing.. one year they had cowboy mouth which is nationally known.

By late afternoon the event is officially over but this is New Orleans, so the party never ends. Wherever you go, you see lots of people wearing red dresses. I saw people in red dresses at the casino sitting at blackjack tables.

For hashers, the weekend isn't over yet. There is still Sunday! This is when the hangover run occurs which is basically a short stumble around the venue. Beignets, Bloody Marys , and mimosas are served. Plus lots of leftover beer from Saturday. It's a mellow event but they usually have a good circle.

So that summarizes New Orleans red dress run. It's a very well run event which has the full support of the city of New Orleans, the tourism board, and so forth. It is by far, the largest red dress run in the world and attracts hashers and non hashers from around the world. I met some people (not hashers) from Europe who traveled to New Orleans specifically for this event. Check it out! You won't be disappointed..

The new venue, by the way, will be the venue for the next two years, so keep that in mind for hotel planning.

Angeles City H3

Angeles City Hashing, Pampanga, Philippines

Many hashes are located near major cities and are relatively easy to access on your own, or often with the help of a very hospitable local hasher. The Angeles City Hash takes a little more time and effort to reach, due to its location two hours north of Manila. The former Clark U.S. Air Base, near Angeles City, now has about a dozen airlines (most are Asia based except Emirates and Qatar) with flights using its facilities. Many of the other major airlines, serving the Americas or Europe, continue their service into the Manila international airport.

Once you arrive here the hotels, restaurants and bars are numerous and very affordable. That is one of the main incentives for former service members and other tourists to return, along with the areas warm weather, golf courses and shopping.

The ACH3 meets every Sunday afternoon at the Premier Hotel, for their 3PM sharp departure (2PM in winter months), out into the surrounding countryside to Hash. Your hash fee will get you a traditional Jeepney ride to/from the hotel to the A-A hash site, along with all the cold beer, juice, soda, or water you care to drink. The current rainy season's threatening clouds thankfully spared the hash this Sunday, 17 September; but, they may have reduced today's attendance to only 60+ regulars and visitors!

Today's hare was "Bush Diver". ACH3 trails are pre-marked, so once hashers arrive at the run site (many regulars via personal vehicles) they are off with very little delay. Today's 7 K trail, located in the vicinity of the "bridge to nowhere”, had everyone going up-hill out of the start and then along ridgeline winding paths and gravel roads. Trails always pass thru bountiful vegetation and numerous small village areas, with even more numerous youngsters to encourage you on your way. Back downhill and on-in at trails end, with the first refreshing ice-cold beverage in your hand is always a welcomed moment. Everyone then mills around of course, discussing the merits or demerits of the days trail until all are in, settled and then called to circle up.

“Saput” has been GM of this hash, for some time now, and always does a fine job of running an entertaining and efficient traditional circle. He is assisted by Song Meisters “Dances with Dogs” and “Cujo” who between them seem to know every possible hash song. With 6:30 PM approaching and the sun beginning to set, providing an amazing sunset, the circle concludes. Most hashers head back to the Premiere Hotel, for the ON ON, which includes 2-3 more coolers of cold Beer. Needless to say, you should not plan to do any driving after all this and I would not recommend visiting hashers to drive at any other time either! Local transport around town is cheap and always readily available.

I've always enjoyed hashing with the Angeles City Hash, as I have with other hashes in the Philippines. I'm sure you will enjoy hashing in the countryside here as well. Info pertaining to ACH3 can be found at: angelehash.com or bushrangerhash.com

The ACH3 will host their next Annual General Piss Up (AGPU) event the first weekend of February 2018. See you there!

HASHING IN THE BLUEGRASS THE BOURBON STATE OF KENTUCKY

By Crotch Thumper

The Governors show hasher pride during the recent solar eclipse.

The Bluegrass State

Kentucky's nickname is The Bluegrass State, based on the fact that bluegrass is found in many of the lawns and pastures throughout the state (particularly in the northern part of Kentucky - including the metropolitan areas of Lexington and Louisville).

"Bluegrass" is the common name for grass of the genus Poa, which is a favored lawn and pasture grass in the eastern United States from Tennessee northward. Bluegrass is actually green - but in the spring bluegrass produces bluish-purple buds that give a rich blue cast to the grass when seen in large fields. Hills are generally rolling, and the soil is highly fertile for growing pasture. The Bluegrass Region is famous for its horse farms and of course the Kentucky Derby (the thoroughbred is the official state horse of Kentucky).

Most important of all about Kentucky, 95% of the world's bourbon comes from this state.

There are five active hashes in four Kentucky cities: Horse's Ass H3 and Lexington Lunatics H3 (Lexington), Louisville H3, Licking Valley H3 (Covington), and Governors H3 (Ft. Campbell- Shared border with Clarksville, TN). Let's have a glimpse of hashing each of these kennels.

I-Feel Tower and Crotch Thumper are comfortably intertwined in a Down Down in their Lexington Lunatics happi coats.

Clarkville Governors H3:
 May 2012 Clarkville Governors was Founded after Black Dog H3 and Beaver Creek H3 defunked. CGH3 hashes every 2nd and 4th Saturday of the month. and hashes in two states on consistent basis (KY, TN). This kennel draws its traditions and history from Okinawa H3, Sembach H3, San Antonio H3, Border Jumpers H3 and Carolina Trash H3. They host the annual TN/KY where a jar of moonshine is a giveaway. They are known for our Motorcycle like Happy Vests. This was due in fact to how our kennel was established.

Horse's Ass H3:

In the heart of the state and founded in 2005 is Kentucky's longest running active hash. They set trails on alternating Saturdays though the rolling hills of the bluegrass and the region of where delicious bourbon is made. We're known for our hashpitality and being the heart in I<3 KY.

Lexington Lunatics H3:

Founded in 2010 as another reason to hash in Lexington. This kennel puts on several themed runs such as pirate pub crawls, SantaCons, cheap beer tastings, and dirty Valentine's day card making and can make a special request for an impromptu hash for the visitors.

Licking Valley H3:

The northern most Kentucky hash is Licking Valley H3, founded in Jan 2006. The hash meets once per month. In 2015, they had a family hash where there were adult and child hares. Kids got root beer floats at the end. Repeated family hashes are held due to the re-productive nature of hashers and lack of babysitters.

Louisville H3:

Louisville is home of the Kentucky Derby and Home of Louisville H3, founded in 2009. They hash every other Saturday. Every year on Oaks Night, Louisville H3 hosts an annual Derby Dress Run. Everyone wears a dress and a gorgeous Derby hat on trail. They double our hash cash and donate the extra funds to a charity every year which is voted on by the kennel.

Why do we <3 KY? Because Astroglide was too long of a word for t-shirts.

Bourbon Facts

Kentucky is the birthplace of Bourbon, crafting 95 percent of the world's supply. Only the Bluegrass State has the perfect natural mix of climate, conditions and pure limestone water necessary for producing the world's greatest Bourbon.

Bourbon is America's only native spirit, as declared by Congress in 1964. It must be made with a minimum of 51 percent corn, aged in charred new oak barrels, stored at no more than 125 proof and bottled no less than 80 proof.

Bourbon is an $8.5 billion signature industry in Kentucky, generating 17,500 jobs with an annual payroll of $800 million. Spirits production and consumption pours more than $825 million in federal, state and local tax coffers every year.

More than $1.1 billion in capital projects has been completed or is planned and underway in the past five years and the next five years, including new distilleries and aging warehouses to bottling facilities and tourism centers.

Kentucky's iconic Bourbon distilleries filled a whopping 1,886,821 barrels of amber nectar last year, breaking production records all the way back to 1967.

The previous all-time high was 1,922,009 barrels filled in 1967. Since the turn of the century, Kentucky Bourbon production has skyrocketed more than 315 percent (455,078 barrels were filled in 1999).

Lexington has an annual fundraiser, such as Make-A-Wish or Sisohpromatem Art Foundation.

That gives the Commonwealth a total inventory of 6,657,063 barrels of Bourbon, the most since 1974 when 6,683,654 new charred oak casks were gently aging in Bluegrass warehouses.

There are now 1.5 barrels for every person living in Kentucky (census population 4,425,092).

The 2016 tax-assessed value of all barrels aging in Kentucky is $2.4 billion – an increase of $299 million from 2015 and a 135 percent increase over the last 10 years.

Nearly 60 percent of every bottle of spirits in Kentucky goes to taxes or fees, with seven different taxes on Bourbon – including an ad valorem tax on barrels each and every year it ages. Distillers also are paying $17,814,134 in ad valorem barrel taxes this year, another all-time high. Revenue from this tax funds education, public safety, public health and other needs in local communities where barrels are stored.

U.S. distilled spirits exports topped $1.5 billion in 2013. Kentucky Bourbon and Tennessee whiskey made up more than $1 billion of that amount, making it the largest export category among all U.S. distilled spirits.

The KDA, a non-profit trade group founded in 1880, represents 33 member companies for the first time since Prohibition as its ranks have swelled with new distilleries, strengthening Kentucky's rightful place as the one, true, authentic home for Bourbon and spirits.
