Editor's Notes

New Year's Eve came and went like the cork from a bottle of bubbly, but hashers around the world will continue to celebrate throughout the new year.

AMERICAS:

Special thanks to our globetrotting correspondents CIA and Quick Drawers for their voluminous contributions throughout the year, covering events on their home turf and on their travels. The North American continent, with arguably the largest number of HHH chapters on earth is bursting with special HHH events throughout 2018. Start the year off in grand style north of the Rio Grande at the Tex-Mex Intercourse Fiesta in the West Texas town of El Paso. Texas is so big they have their own Texas Interhash in 2018.

Then it's off to Party Gras in Virginia Beach, where beer, mud and games will come together for an unforgettable weekend that few may remember. Grab your surfboard and hop a 747 to the islands to join the natives in celebrating 40 years of Hashing in Hawaii. The following week snag your snowboard, and head to the champagne slopes of Colorado for the Ski Hash Weekend in Colorado Springs. If cruising is more your style, join the Pirate Invasion Cruise departing from the Big Easy for Cozumel, Mexico. For some down-home fun in the mid-American heartland try a psychedelic "Cow Tipping Weekend" in Lockbourne, Ohio, or USA Nash Hash in Weeping Water, Nebraska.

EUROPE:

What would we do without our conscientious columnist Julie Burgess? Yark Sucker knows a fair bit about hashing around the European continent, and she shares her take on the best events for the coming year.

The Sans Clue H3 celebrates their 1000th Run and 25th birthday party in gay Paris the last week of March through April Fools Day. You may not have a clue before or after this event, but who cares? Belgian Nash Hash, hosted by the Brussels Mannekin Pis H3 the first week of April will take you to the quaint border town of Limburg. The Athens H3 will celebrate their 40th Birthday on the Island of Rhodes in May.

It's up to the Alps for Swiss Nash Hash in Zweisimmen this June. Finish out the month on the Dalmatian Hash Cruise for a week of hashing your way through these famed Croatian islands. All roads may lead to Rome but consider the ISCA H3 Roman Awayday in Exeter this August. Finish out the hashing season at the DIVA Bubbly Weekend in Esslingen town, near Stuttgart.

AFRICA:

Julie "Head Mistress" Stanton carries a colossal torch as our Africa correspondent. Since her move to Africa she does her best to keep us informed about HHH events on the Dark Continent. Not an easy task by anyone's measure. Head Mistress recommends a visit to Mauritius for the Catamaran Hash in January. Follow that up with the Swazi 2M Weekend, organised by the Maputo and Matola H3s in Swaziland this February, South Africa. An African favourite is the Ethiopian Mountain Challenge, starting in Addis Ababa on the 27th of April. Nigeria will have its Nash Hash in Calabar this September. The Ssesse Island Hash will be hosted by the Kampala H3 in Uganda, East Africa in December.

ASIA:

Start your 2018 Asia hashing at India Nash Hash this January in picturesque Karnataka, India. Cambodia Nash Hash will be hosted by the Phnom Penh Danger Hash with a train trip to Takeo this March. Wild Wolf takes Philippine Hash Bash back to Sebang Beach in Puerto Galera in April. A new twist to this year's event is a hash on Verde Island. Malaysia Nash Hash is scheduled for Raub, Pehang on Peninsular Malaysia this May.

The 80th Anniversary of Mother Hash is coming up 14-17 September in Kuala Lumpur. You can start the celebration early from 8-12 September on the Train

CONTENTS

Rumble to Mother traveling from Bangkok to Pattaya, Hua Hin, Hat Yai and Ipoh before joining up with the Mother Hash celebration in KL. The following week Mekong Indochina Hash will be hosted by the Saigon and Nha Trang Hashes, 21-23 September in Nha Trang, Vietnam.

AUSTRALIA, NZ, OCEANIA/Fiji:

World Interhash comes to the South Pacific Nation of Fiji 24-27 May. There will be a Pre-Lube Hash Cruise from Nadi to the Yasawa and Mamanuca Islands 15-22 May. Queensland will host a number of HHH events in 2018, starting with the Gold Coast 2000th Run in March. The Commonwealth Games Hash will take place this May in Burleigh Heads. Not to be left out, the Cutlery H3 will celebrate 1000 Runs in May. The combined Harriettes of Oz will host "Diamonds and Pearls" in October.

MIDDLE EAST:

Last, but certainly not least, special thanks to Douglas "White Trash" Barrett, for his advisory about Intergulf in Abu Dhabi, UAE this March.

I look forward to seeing you on trail in 2018!

Harrier Magazine will adjust its publication schedule in 2018. In an effort to preserve the editorial quality of each print and digital edition, and to remain financially solvent in a time of increasing production and delivery costs, the publication schedule for the coming year will include six bi-monthly digital editions and three print editions. Additional issues will be added on to subscriptions in effect before 1 January 2018 so that subscribers receive the same number of issues they paid for at the time they subscribed.

5 Top Hashing Events in Sub-Saharan Africa 2018

This year, Sub – Saharan Africa has a variety of events on offer from hashing by the beach, by lakes, on islands and a chance to hash in one of the world’s last absolute monarchies. Usually hash events in Africa are quite small and are mainly just weekend events organised for the local hashers but if you make the effort to turn up to one, you will receive a warm and friendly welcome and you’re guaranteed to have a good time.

CATAMARAN HASH

Mauritius, Southern Africa
14th January 2018

To celebrate the New Year, Mauritius H3 are organising their first ever catamaran hash trip on the east coast with a visit to Grand River South Waterfall, the longest river on the island and a visit to the beautiful paradise island of Ile aux Cerfs. Cost is Rs 1,300 (that's Mauritian rupees) including lunch and drinks. Check out <http://www.mhash.com/> for more information and for registration.

2M WEEKEND

Organised by Maputo and Matola H3
Swaziland, Southern Africa
9th to 11th February 2018

If you ever fancied hashing in Swaziland, a small landlocked monarchy in southern Africa known for its wilderness reserves and traditional Swazi culture, then you might want to join the annual weekend trip organised by the two hash chapters based in Maputo, Mozambique known as the 2Ms. The next away weekend will be at Mllwane Wildlife Reserve, 2M's favourite place to hash with its many hiking trails. The weekend will cost R 1850 per person including 2 nights accommodation, 2 breakfasts, 2 dinners, 2 run fees, wine with dinner, 1 shirt, entry feeds etc. There will be plenty of wildlife but no lions or elephants.

ETHIOPIAN MOUNTAIN CHALLENGE 2018

Organised by Addis Ababa Hash House Harriers
 Ethiopia, East Africa
 27th – 30th April 2018

The bi-annual Ethiopian Mountain Challenge is back with a new location in the Great Rift Valley lake area of Southern Ethiopia. After complaints from some of the Kenyan and Ugandan hashers, that the mountain challenge hashes are just too long and difficult, next year's event will be held in the South where the altitude is slightly lower and the land is a bit flatter. However, there will still be that ballbreaker trail for those who want the challenge as well as shorter and easier trails plus plenty of time to relax. Accommodation will be at one of the top lodges in the area by Lake Langano, the only lake declared safe to swim in hence it is Ethiopia's equivalent to a beach. Current early bird prices until 31st January are 300 USD based on room sharing or 450 USD for a single room. The price includes airport transfers, welcome drinks, 2 nights' accommodation in Addis Ababa, bus transfer to Lake Langano, 2 nights accommodation in lakeside resort and all meals for 2 days, beer and event t-shirt.

SSESE ISLAND HASH WEEKEND

Organised by Kampala Hash House Harriers

Think a big boat, large supplies of beer, food, music and a DJ all laid on for 150 hashers to enjoy the 6 hour party cruise. 80TH ANNIVERSARY OF MOTHER HASH

September 14-17

Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia

Mother Hash invites hashers from around the world to celebrate the 80th Anniversary of their founding in 1938. Since then, members of various chapters have spread out and spawned all of our chapters. The humble beginnings of a group of 9 hashers led by A. S. Gispert, has resulted in our large network of nearly 3000 chapters all around the world.

The Hash is a unique community. There are thousands of individual chapters, bonded by a common interest to have a good non-competitive run and then to socialise afterwards. There are many variations in all parts of the world but all maintain the core traditions.

The 80th Anniversary celebrations are over a period of three days with many runs and activities to cater for all. Please watch our website for regular updates.

INTERGULF IN ABU DHABI

6 - 8 March

The biggest event in the Middle East this year will be in the desert city of Abu Dhabi in the United Arab Emirates when Abu Dhabi Hash House Harriers and Harriettes (AUH4) host InterGulf Hash from 6 to 8 March. AUH4 has a long and rich tradition of old school hashing having clocked up close to 2,100 runs. It's home to the infamous Rehy Run, the magnificent ten drink stop party in the desert. It's also home to the down and dirty Mud Run through the mangrove outside the capital. The weekend will include a pub run through AD's best bars; a trip to the desert for the main event (camels guaranteed); and a hangover run along the historic Corniche. Not to be missed!

INTER HASH 2020 BID LANGKAWI

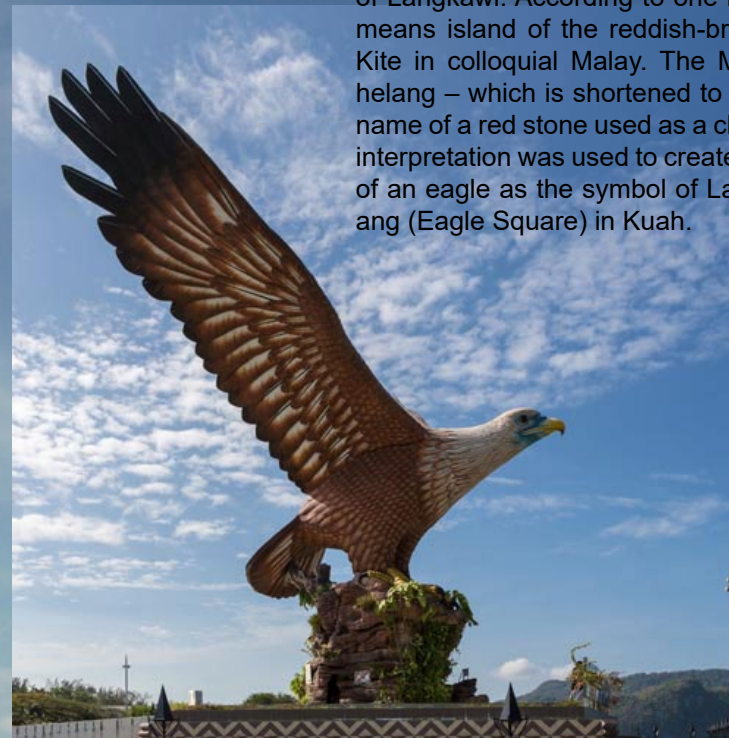

21st to 23rd Aug 2020

Early Bird Registration Fee:
USD75.00 (ONLY for the 1st 500 pax)

Langkawi, officially known as Langkawi the Jewel of Kedah is a district and an archipelago of 104 islands in the Andaman Sea, some 30km off the mainland coast of north western Malaysia. The islands are a part of the state of Kedah, which is adjacent to the Thai border.

The name Langkawi is thought to have existed by the early 15th century, although in the 16th century the island of Langkawi was also marked on maps variously as Langa, Langka, Lansura, and Langapura.

There are many suggestions for the origin of the name of Langkawi. According to one interpretation, Langkawi means island of the reddish-brown eagle, a Brahminy Kite in colloquial Malay. The Malay word for eagle is helang – which is shortened to “lang”, while kawi is the name of a red stone used as a chalk to mark goods. This interpretation was used to create the landmark sculpture of an eagle as the symbol of Langkawi at Dataran Helang (Eagle Square) in Kuah.

Langkawi, a cluster of 99 islands separated from mainland Malaysia by the Straits of Malacca, is a district of the state of Kedah in Northern Malaysia and lies approximately 51 km west of Kedah. The total land mass of the islands is 47,848 hectares. The main island spans about 25 km from north to south and slightly more for east and west. The coastal areas consist of flat, alluvial plains punctuated with limestone ridges. Two-thirds of the island is dominated by forest-covered mountains, hills and natural vegetation. Perfect Hash country

On 1 June 2007, Langkawi Island was given a World Geopark status by UNESCO. Three of its main conservation areas in Langkawi Geopark are Machincang Cambrian Geoforest Park, Kilim Karst Geoforest Park and Dayang Bunting Marble Geoforest park (Island of the Pregnant Maiden Lake). These three parks are the most popular tourism area within Langkawi Geopark.

Tourists can enter the island via ferry from Kuala Kedah, Kuala Perlis and Penang. Or by domestic flight from Kuala Lumpur International Airport (KUL) via Malaysia Airlines, AirAsia, Malindo Air, Rayani Air, or Subang Sultan Abdul Aziz Shah Airport (SZB) via Malindo Air and Firefly providing budget connection to the island. International connection is available from Singapore via Tigerair and AirAsia, as well as from Guangzhou via AirAsia.

There are two main island areas: the Southern Islands, with a heavier tourist population and the islands to the north east which are more secluded with little tourist traffic. Langun Island has a fresh-water lake like Pregnant Maiden Lake only without the tourists and has Sand Spit Beach on its south-facing orientation. Dendang Island next to it forms a bay used by Langkawi sailing yacht tour operators

Some of the most popular beaches are Pantai Cenang, Pantai Tengah, Burau Bay, Pantai Kok, and Datoi Bay. Pantai Cenang beach has long stretches of fine white sand. It has a number of restaurants and bars for evening entertainment, several hosting live music and for watching the sun set. The beach is lined with tall coconut and casuarina trees. Pantai Tengah is separated from Cenang by a small cape. It also faces the setting sun and has hotels and bars, making it less busy in the evening. Burau Bay, fringed by rocky outcrops, is visited by migratory birds. Pantai Kok a quiet beach has a backdrop of limestone hills. Datoi Bay has a combination of forests and sea, its white sandy beach is backed by forest.

Langkawi is a duty-free island and a shopping paradise. It is the perfect venue for Inter Hash 2020.

Penang the Pearl of the Orient and areas surrounding this wonderful island will be superb locations to do a few pre & post rambles. Across the border on the Thai side where lots of “activities” happen will be another great location for pre & post rambles.

A Train Ramble beginning from Singapore to Sg Petani rambling through the entire South to North of the Peninsula making stops at various locations will certainly be organised.

New Orleans

RDR

by CIA

New Orleans, Louisiana is hot in the summer. Some might even say damn hot! Or as one Harriette put it to me, "it's hot as balls here!" To which I responded, "and how exactly do you know that?".. She said "trust me, I know".. Too much information, perhaps? I decided I didn't need further details.

But she's right. It is hot as sweaty balls in August. But I digress.

The purpose of this missive isn't to discuss New Orleans weather or sweaty balls but rather an event which takes place the second weekend in August called the New Orleans red dress run. Now in its 23rd year, the event has morphed into a major spectacle that raises well over $100,000 dollars for local New Orleans charities. Several thousand sign up to do this thing of which only a small fraction are hashers. This year, there were roughly 500 hashers (which makes it a major hash event) and 4000 non- hashers! There are also a significant number of so called bandits who pay nothing, but they put on a red dress and party in the French quarter.

Red dress run weekend has evolved over the years. In its first ten years, it was a small event and was just your typical hash event. That changed after hurricane Katrina. The event started growing and many charities began recognizing it for the contributions it provided them. Last year, approximately 70 local charities received donations. The city, of course, also benefits. Millions of dollars are pumped into the local economy and its now considered a mini Mardi Gras.

There are two parts to RDR weekend: the hash part (for registered hashers only) and the red dress run part (which takes place on Saturday). Many NO RDR veterans consider the party to start on Thursday when the voodoo hash puts on their annual red skirt run. This usually attracts over 100 hashers. The theme is wear a red skirt. This is an event that is low key compared to the rest of the weekend.

Friday is the official start to RDR weekend. The theme for the hashers only run is red lingerie. This is a real run, not a pub crawl. Location start varies from year to year, as does the finish, but lately it's been ending at the house of blues in the French quarter. Of course, there are lots of extra credit stops in the quarter with the party carrying on at various bars after it winds down at the house of blues.

Saturday is the big day: the red dress run..it actually is a real run though few people run it. It starts around 11 am. The course is about a mile and a half. The route varies from year to year as the event has evolved. For the last few years, the venue has been Armstrong park with the course going into the French quarter down bourbon street and back along Esplanade. This year, the venue changed to crescent park which is on the edge of the French quarter along the Mississippi River. I like the new venue. Access to the park is via a bridge above the railroad tracks which helps keep the bandits (non registrants) out. It also has a large open air roof structure which can handle a few thousand people. This is really good as it's normally quite hot in NOLA this time of year.

Due to the new venue, the course changed yet again. This year, the route went down esplanade, then rampart, (big beer stop on rampart!) and then into the French quarter. It did not go down bourbon street this year but it did cross it. Of course, lots of people do their own thing stopping at numerous bars along the way. Even with a lengthy beer stop, you can finish the course in an hour.

Afterwards, the venue is split into two areas: one for hashers which can be viewed as a VIP section, and the other area for non hashers. The hasher section has its own beer stand, portable toilets, and food section. So this is where you want to be to avoid long lines.

At the far end of the venue is a stage for live musical entertainment. They always have two local bands playing.. one year they had cowboy mouth which is nationally known.

By late afternoon the event is officially over but this is New Orleans, so the party never ends. Wherever you go, you see lots of people wearing red dresses. I saw people in red dresses at the casino sitting at blackjack tables.

For hashers, the weekend isn't over yet. There is still Sunday! This is when the hangover run occurs which is basically a short stumble around the venue. Beignets, Bloody Marys, and mimosas are served. Plus lots of leftover beer from Saturday. It's a mellow event but they usually have a good circle.

So that summarizes New Orleans red dress run. It's a very well run event which has the full support of the city of New Orleans, the tourism board, and so forth. It is by far, the largest red dress run in the world and attracts hashers and non hashers from around the world. I met some people (not hashers) from Europe who traveled to New Orleans specifically for this event. Check it out! You won't be disappointed..

The new venue, by the way, will be the venue for the next two years, so keep that in mind for hotel planning.

Philippines Hash Bash 2019 PALAWAN March 8-9-10

Press Release:

Next month I will travel to Busuanga-Coron in Palawan to start the process of dis-organising the 2019 event. Unfortunately, though many hash bashers want me to arrange an event in Palawan during March 2018 that will not happen.

To arrange a really superb hash bash takes time and ideally I should live at Busuanga-Coron for a period of time before arranging the event (especially if it will have a 4th day of beer-fuelled island hopping).

So relax, go to Interhash Fiji next year, and get set for a truly spectacular 10th Philippines Hash Bash in Palawan on March 8-9-10 (and 11) 2019.

CAMBODIA NASH HASH 2018

Hashers and Harriettes, Roll Up!, Roll Up! for the Magical Mystery Tour. The Cambodian Phnom Penh Nash Hash is coming to you from Friday 9th to Sunday 11th March 2018 – to take you away, and you don't want to miss it! Already confirmed is a star-studded list of international celebrity attendees. Prince Harry and his fiancé Angela are representing Britain and East Germany; Nicolas Sarkozy is coming from France with his pretty Albanian wife Carla; and Courtney Love is travelling here from America. No one actually remembers who Courtney Love is anymore (since she killed the husband), but we still love her joke: What's the difference between Courtney Love and the American flag? It's considered rude to piss on the American flag!

We also want lots of people from Australia, whose national hero – Ned Kelly - thought he could escape a building surrounded by 100 armed lawmen by disguising himself as a tin can! But fear not, we will be able to find many who are actually able to fill out an airport landing form. We even want to see people from totally unimportant countries like Canada, Malaysia, Sweden and Ireland, whose status in life is similar to that of Women, Blacks and Jews – people feel obliged to say that they are 'veeery nice', 'veeeery sensible' and 'veeeery important', but in reality they always take second place anyway. However even if not many Irish can attend, this year's Cambodian Nash Hash T-shirt will certainly remind you of Ireland – it's green, far too small and really only good for drinking in!

This year, we have so much planned for the Cambodian Nash Hash: trains (!!!!), boats (!!!!), air-conditioned trucks (!!!!), great beer, great food, and even a few Vietnamese women with big tits who live here (who needs the Hand of God when you have the hands of a good plastic surgeon?). And all for only $140. Less than the price of 3 grams of heroin - ridiculous! And to save time and allow for more drinking of beer, the train and boat trips might even take place together:

Yep – we think of everything!

Being in Cambodia, you will of course be asked at some stage to donate to a good cause that saves Cambodians from something or other (probably themselves) – it's not like the Khmer Rouge was an invading foreign army is it? This year, the Nash Hash is sponsoring that well-loved US NGO 'WDKWTFWADHBLIBHATFCA' (We Don't Know What The Fuck We Are Doing Here, But Live in Big Houses And Travel First Class Anyway). Please give generously, as remember, a day spent giving is one day closer to heaven, while a day spent drinking methyl alcohol is one day closer to looking like Sir Les Patterson (Australia's Cultural Attaché to Nauru).

And finally, a reminder to all Hashers and Harriettes – the Nash Hash is taking place in Phnom Penh, not Siem Reap. So if you spend the weekend wading through knee-high heaps of plastic bags while surrounded by a bunch of old dirty stones (having paid about $200 for the privilege), and looking in vain for other hashers, when all you can see is a bunch of Singaporeans having oral sex on their new iPhone X's (la) – HAAA - YOU'VE BEEN PUNKED !!!

So, see you at the Phnom Penh Nash Hash between 9th and 11th March 2018. For registration, book on-line by email at: cnhpp2018@gmail.com.

The Hash Darwin Awards

Old Chaz, the chap on the right, in one of his sober moments, put forward the notion of "survival of the fittest", a concept that implies that the removal from the gene pool (usually by death) of its weaker members, thereby strengthens the survival chances of the remainder. However, here at OTI, we do not encourage the extermination of the less able, the feeble, or the intellectually challenged. Rather, we encourage them to become hashers! Further, this column aims to be a forum where the moronic misdeeds of hashers might be chronicled in pursuit of that noblest of pastimes, namely, having cheap laughs at other people's expense. With that in mind, I offer the following:

BE ALWAYS DRUNKEN

Charles Darwin

The title of this latest column comes from the poem by Charles Baudelaire, as I'm sure many of you know, since if you are reading this you are obviously among the more literate of hashers - a relatively select group to be sure. I'm not even persuaded that the editor of this magazine can read, for example, but I digress.

Baudelaire writes:

"Be always drunken. Nothing else matters: that is the only question. If you would not feel the horrible burden of Time weighing on your shoulders and crushing you to the earth, be drunken continually. Drunken with what? With wine, with poetry, or with virtue, as you will. But be drunken."

Now this is a sentiment most hashers can get behind. And if there is little poetry and less virtue at a hash there is almost certainly wine and most definitely beer. Indeed it is the shared love of getting on the grog that is probably the one unifying element of the hash. It certainly isn't the running, which any visit to the Bangkok Hash can confirm. In fact, some of the gentlemen of the BH3 can barely walk much less run but they can, as a rule, put away a fair amount of blizzard-cold piss at the circle and afterwards.

In its fondness for alcoholic fluids the Hash is merely a microcosm of human society. From our earliest times humans have demonstrated a pronounced tendency to enjoy getting smashed. There is actually some suggestion that alcohol is the main driving force behind human evolution, in that we felt compelled to come down out of the trees and onto the ground because that's where the rotting fermented fruit was. In early China, the discovery that fermenting rice in clay pots led it to become alcoholic prompted our ancestors to start cultivating rice rather than going to the trouble of hunting around for the wild stuff. Thus the desire for a strong drink led to agriculture and the rest, as they say, is history.

Our love of getting a few drinks in is something we share not only with our human ancestors but also with our cousins the monkeys. This was something Charles Darwin, an intellectual hero of mine and one whose picture adorns the masthead of this page – he’s the chap on the right - noted as part of his research into what would become his book “The Descent of Man” – a great title by the way and a path I am attempting to follow in my own life, all too successfully.

Darwin began by observing that “man is liable to receive from the lower animals, and to communicate to them, certain diseases, as hydrophobia, variola, the glanders, syphilis, cholera, herpes, etc.” This is indisputable as many a hashman could attest but would perhaps prefer not to publicly. He went on to note, “many kinds of monkeys have a strong taste for tea, coffee, and spiritous liquors: they will also, as I have myself seen, smoke tobacco with pleasure”. Again the similarities with many hashmen, only a rung or two higher on the evolutionary ladder, ought to be apparent. He goes on to acknowledge that “the same tastes are common to some animals much lower in the scale. Mr. A. Nichols informs me that he kept in Queensland, in Australia, three individuals of the Phaseolarctus cinereus; and that, without having been taught in any way, they acquired a strong taste for rum, and for smoking tobacco”.

For those of you whose days in the science classroom are a long way behind you, the Phaseolarctus cinereus is, of course, the koala. And is it just me or is it unsurprising that our man with the smoking and drinking koalas hailed from Queensland?

Darwin also noted that a fellow scientist in Africa had caught baboons and got them drunk (anything in the name of science, I guess) and that “on the following morning they were very cross and dismal; they held their aching heads with both hands, and wore a most pitiable expression: when beer or wine was offered them, they turned away with disgust”. Now in this regard, I can definitely say that, as humans, we are more evolved than baboons in at least one sense; we have invented the Bloody Mary. Imagine how much more baboons might have accomplished if they had? Planet of the Apes, anyone?

Our love of drinking is clearly deeply ingrained but in some parts of the world there is a concern that people are being drawn away from the good, wholesome pastime of drinking beer and towards smoking a joint or two in places where it is legal. In the US, a report from Cowen and Company, found that legalized recreational weed was associated with decreased beer sales in the three historically strong beer markets of Colorado, Washington, and Oregon. This is a worrying trend, for while I have nothing against marijuana, particularly when it used as an ingredient in a steaming hot bowl of noodle soup as it still is in certain places in the Lao PDR, I still am, first and foremost, a beer and gin man, and the thought of pubs closing in places like Boulder, Colorado and their being replaced by weed dispensaries is depressing. In general, every time a pub closes, even if just for the night in some cases, a little piece of me dies.

That said, I cannot endorse the action taken by The Beer Distributors of Massachusetts and the Wine & Spirits Wholesalers of Massachusetts who have, as reported by the Boston Globe, apparently chipped in $75,000 toward the anti-marijuana-legalization campaign in that state. If you live in Massachusetts drive across the border and buy your beer in some neighboring state. That'll show 'em. Whatever you do though, don't give up drinking; it is the social lubricant that holds society together and probably prevents us killing each other in even greater numbers than we do.

So always remember, as Baudelaire concludes his poem, "And if sometimes, on the stairs of a palace, or on the green side of a ditch, or in the dreary solitude of your own room, you should awaken and the drunkenness be half or wholly slipped away from you, ask of the wind, or of the wave, or of the star, or of the bird, or of the clock, of whatever flies, or sighs, or rocks, or sings, or speaks, ask what hour it is; and the wind, wave, star, bird, clock, will answer you: 'It is the hour to be drunken!'"

On On to the next issue.

A DRINKING CLUB WITH A RECESSITATION PROBLEM

Dramatic HHH run in Stockholm recently: the small but low quality run had to hold at Gärdet and do some life saving assistance with CPR etc and call in 112 resources in attempt to rescue an unconcios person found lying on trail. Special thanks to virgin runner Omar who was great in first aid skills. We don't know but the ambulance guys actually found a pulse, which is when we left (we were ever so cold by then). Omar and Ei Sa Peitee were incredible, and well done also to Fluffer for noticing the man. Yes, Fluffer, Ei Sa Peitee and Just Omar were main heroes, the rest assisted by calling and guiding emergency cars who took wrong streets first. Hashers are quick runners though and could run them right. But we are so happy to raport that all the Hashers did not hesitate a second to help by each ones capacity.

According to Big Brother: The Police read his ID and said his name, could have been 'Bengt', but not 100% sure. He looked like around 70. But we do not know how it ended, as we left a few minutes after doctors and firemen took over. Not sure it was a success story.... I guess it depends on how long he had been there before we found him, as he was pretty 'blue' when found, and did not have much puls or breathing, if any, when we started checking him. The blue went away after Omar gave CPR, so it improved, but then what. No clue. Maybe if media has a weekend notice of accidents, and alerts in stockholm, etc??? It was a Saturday and I guess around 15:00 when 112 got the call...../BB We at the Trash have not been able to find any addition info on this man so we presume and hope he survived.

WOMAN RUNS OFF WITH STOLEN WEDGWOOD PLATE ON HEAD

WANTED FOR QUESTIONING

Police are hunting an elderly woman who allegedly stole a distinctive classic blue Wedgwood plate from a pottery shop.

They say the well-spoken pensioner popped into the Norfolk Pottery Emporium near Sandringham last Tuesday. She browsed the shelves and was seen to put the plate on her head before running out of the store without paying. CCTV cameras caught the woman – said to be around 90 years old – on camera, and now Norfolk Police have released the photograph above.

We hope someone is able to recognise the culprit, who was caught on film red-handed with the Wedgwood plate on her head, a spokesman said. She is well dressed and has a classy British accent and is around 5ft 2ins tall. Officers believe the woman made off in a dark blue Range Rover in the direction of the nearby Sandringham Estate. Store owner Daphne Spuckler, 56, said the mystery woman tried to disguise the classic Jasperware-style Wedgwood design by popping it on her head. She than calmly walked out of the store without paying. "She wore it a little bit like a crown. It's very odd – I wonder who she was?"

The distinctive plate is made of traditional blue Wedgwood porcelain with its trademark white patterned design across the top. Police say anyone with information about the woman, or of the stolen plate, which is valued at around £50, should call Crimestoppers. They say it was unfortunate that Royal Protection Squad officers, who were operating in the area at the time, had not seen anything suspicious.

JESUS CHRIST I'M PISSED OFF

Jesus Christ has gone on the record to say that he is absolutely sick and tired of relatives and friends buying him joint birthday and Christmas presents. "It's really not on and it's definitely not fair." Said Jesus this morning. "It's bad enough that Dad has forsaken me but to then only buy me one present for Christmas AND my birthday, well, what can I say. I'm a bit cross. He thinks it's funny to wish me a merry birthday. I hate that almost as much as I hate the money lenders in the temple. Is it too much to ask that he gets me a separate birthday and Christmas present, it's not as if I'm asking him to walk on water. And I know he can do that.

'ICH BIN EIN BINLINER'

President Donald Trump landed in Germany Sunday morning to kick off the first leg of his 12-day trip to Europe. Trump held a surprise press conference with reporters after landing in Berlin and delivered his now famous "Ich bin ein Binliner" speech to both Angela Merkel and the world's press at the foot of the steps of Air Force One.

"It was a really good speech and for the first time in a while I think we can all agree with Donald Trump. He is definitely 'ein Binliner'." Rees Muller from Der Spiegel told The Hash Trash. "He got a round of applause from the press corps for that line. He looked very pleased with himself. I hope he uses it again." "I think it might have been the first time that Trump has said something true, at least since he said he 'grabs them by the pussy' of course."

THE VALLEY OF THE FANNY'S RUN

How to write a run review: Umm. Actually, just like everything with the hash, there are no rules! It's just nice to have a bit of a record, and to be honest some hashes don't do a trash and a review is all. Obviously it is preferable to try and remember before brain cells are inevitably targeted by beer bullets! Right, So the Norwegian Pirate's there as helping Hare so let's get on with it!

This sunny afternoon we were blessed with a number of visiting Hasher from Oslo in West Sweden who came late having followed Laid Bird and left the bus at Nacka Forum instead of continuing to Storängen. Later given a DD for what part of leaving bus at 'Storängen' you did not understand.

Near on 40 Hashers arrived at FANNYDAL or Fanny Dale or 'The Valley of the Fanny's' as they say in English.

The Norwegian Pirate then proceeded to explain the marks but soon run out of pavement so the runners headed straight into a check and led by myself to the first 'On Back' I know a short cut, I shouted and the fools followed me down a scrubby steep railway embankment. Another loop and a long false trail and the runners caught up with the walkers along a waterside track so difficult that the bikers turned back and we never saw Termite again on trail. Not unusual.

Eventually we came to a small lighthouse where the Vodkas were opened while we waited and waited for the lost runners to arrive, only two out of three strollers made it, Muci had to retire as his front wheel fell off. Eventually, in dribs and drabs they all arrived and the vodka was finished off at a grand pace but not before a photo shoot was organized, looking at the photo it is a small wonder that neither Marmite nor anyone else were nudged into the drink? The Hash is becoming too kind in its old age.

Again the pack divided into walkers and runners as the Hares announced they had taken advantage of the daylight to set another drink stop about five kilometres as the crowd don't fly. Eager running found us heading out to the railway line then out and round Lillängen woods. As we headed into the forest, and on hares recommendation, a few of us went unusual concoctions from Eastern Europe and a hardy few braved a dip in the brine.

Once again the pack was split into two. the walkers back tracking the trail while the runners circumventing the lake then back via the by-pass where we met the walkers for the run-inn to the On Home where down downs were awarded to the hares, the virgins, the visitors and returnees and many others but honesty you can't expect me to remember all. However I do remember I had one. Before the fodder was delivered many found their way into the mini-pool and the hot tub. Another great hash.....OnOnMaliBog

UNEMPLOYED MOTHER ON BENEFITS KNOCKED UP AGAIN

It is all over social media that an unemployed mother on state benefits, who already has two kids, is knocked up yet again. The woman spends her benefit money on designer clothes and holidays while forcing the state to pick up the tab for feeding her children, one tabloid revealed today. It's going to be a nightmare for her. An aide to the benefit scrounger told The Herald. There's a two child cap on child support benefit, goodness knows how she is going to cope with this. The woman who is in a 57 bedroom council property is said to have already applied for larger accommodation. "The real challenge for her is applying for the thirty hours free childcare for her other urchin. That paperwork is a killer."

The woman, who is thirty five, is said to be struggling to get by on the income from her husband's paltry £450,000 a year trust fund and handouts from the state amounting to tens of millions of pounds a year. "The government really urgently needs to look into lifting the two child cap on support for children and streamline the system for receiving the thirty hours free childcare. Or this woman just won't be able to cope! Without child support this woman would only be able to afford 2 or 3 nannies in her retinue, and perhaps two drivers and half a dozen close protection officers and two or three dozen maids, cleaners, chefs, butlers and footmen. Not to mention her helicopter pilot! This needs sorting out NOW!"

Nativity Play Ends In Inevitable Failure

Bumley Council were forced to cancel its annual community Nativity Play for the 126th consecutive year in succession. After another exhaustive search of the Borough they were yet again unable to find three wise men or a virgin. Encouragingly, and as per every year, there were many, many volunteers to be shepherds and one particularly good candidate to play the rear end of the donkey. Headmistress Danielle Brearley said "I really thought this year would be the year. Honest! I just had a feeling but it wasn't to be. We are just going to have to do with the Cliff Richard CD and Black Pudding vol au vents like last year" A spokesman for the Church of England said "Nativity Play? Seriously? People still do that? Who knew?"

MAFIA DISTANCE THEMSELVES FROM COMPARISONS TO FIFA

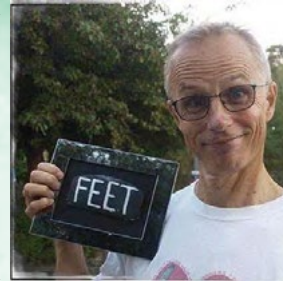

THE MAFIA has been quick to distance themselves from comparisons to football's governing body FIFA after it emerged two witnesses in a corruption case against former FIFA executives have turned up dead in recent days, WWN confirm. "Hey now, don't drag our names into this, you're making us look bad," confirmed mafia spokesmademan Tony Palatino, who represented the Genovese family, among others. Palatino admitted he was all too aware of the reputational damage that could be caused to the mafia if it was continually compared to a ruthlessly corrupt organisation like FIFA. Judge Pamela Chen, presiding over the court cases dealing with several former FIFA executives ruled that the apparent 'throat slitting' motion made by defendant and former head of the Peruvian FA Manuel Burga actually thinking of going to the trial today to take notes and get some ideas," concluded spokesmademan Palatino.

This judgement comes days after the witness that was subjected to the gesture by Burga, Alejandro Burzaco, was murdered. "Careful with those words there, you saying the mafia would try something brazen like this too?" continued Mr. Palatino, "we in the mafia can conclusively say we haven't got shit on these FIFA guys. We couldn't compete with this stuff". The scale of the alleged corruption by FIFA executives has continued to astonish those following the trial, and when it was put to the mafia that large scale intimidation, bribes, racketeering and threats of violence was very much similar to the mob's way of doing things, they were adamant they not be compared to football's top men. "This thing of ours, it is frankly baby stuff when compared to FIFA, a few of us are actually thinking of going to the trial today to take notes and get some ideas," concluded spokesmademan Palatino.

STOCKHOLM ABSOLUT RUN # 784

Red Horse and meself had been lucky enough to catch a train on time but on arriving at Spånga took the wrong turning and as we eventually arrived late to the start we were surprised to see the usual culprits already were assembled and ready to go. Then the start got delayed because we had to wait for two other Hashers their excuse that they were so late: The train had left on time!

When the call finally came to get ready, everybody gathered outside waiting, then inside to warm up, then back outside waiting again, then inside again... SillyCon Feet gave the chalk talk and the shivering pack finally took off about 14:30 in a generally north-westerly kind of direction. We moved swiftly forward down Avestagatan, only slightly confused by a the Eagles and Turkey trails parting. Eventually the walkers on the bridge could see the runners on the old railway trail underneath. Continuing from the bridge, the walkers and runners joined, parted and re-joined several times and after running through the allotments found ourselves at Casa Muci were a well-organized beer stop was arranged. Since the whole pack was feeling a bit cold by now, hare SillyCon Feet graciously let us be led straight to the station and then by a devious route back to the OnInn We finally arrived back the world of creature comforts about two hours after we had headed out. Cold, tired, and worn, but quite satisfied with an excellent day out in the wild and woolly yonders of Spånga. What happened next dear readers we will leave to you vivid imaginations as we had to leave early prior to another engagement.....OnOn SirMaliBog.

PRINCE GEORGE FUMES OVER NOT PLAYING A KING IN NATIVITY PLAY

PRINCE George threw a mini tantrum when he was not picked to play a wise king in his school nativity. The strong-willed toddler stunned teachers when he fumed: "One day I really will be king and all of you miserable fuckers will be locked in the Tower of London." But staff at the Thomas's School in Battersea, London stuck to their guns, and the young prince, who is third in line to the throne, was forced to play a sheep instead. Proud parents the Duke and Duchess of Cambridge, were delighted with his performance. A school insider said: "We have to make sure all of our children get the chance to shine in the nativity play, no matter who they are. "Prince George will have plenty of time to practise being a real king, so there was no pressure on us." In the nativity, three wise kings turn up bearing gifts for baby Jesus. Yet despite his royal blood, young George was forced to dress up in a cuddly sheep outfit. Other children at the school were said to be delighted that they were able to be king, just for one day. One parent said: "George is a great character and probably was not very angry about being a sheep. "He has a real sense of humour and played his part perfectly. "It's good to see that the school treats him just like another other pupil."

FUCK OFF YOU'RE NOT INVITED ANYMORE UK DISTANT RELATIVE TELLS TRUMP

BRTAIN has withdrawn Donald Trump's invitation to visit and never really wanted him to come in the first place. The UK has got sick of Trump complaining about protests and admitted his visit would have been horrific anyway. Office worker Nikki Hollis said: "It's not like Britain has got a shortage of horrible right-wing sex grouping twats at the moment. "Having him to stay would have been a huge hassle for the police and the Queen, and he'd only have wanted to go to Planet Hollywood for a 'Terminator burger'." Electrician and distant relative Tom Logan said: "I wouldn't want Trump staying at my house because he's the sort of obnoxious guest who would eat all the yoghurts, want cat's piss US beer and freak out about not having his own bathroom. Therefore I've decided not to invite him to my country. He wouldn't have got much out of visiting Stonehenge, the Sadlers Wells Opera or the Tate Modern anyway because he'd constantly be fiddling with his Twitter. Usually when some twat relative from abroad cancels a visit you have to pretend to be sad, like when Uncle Darren from Germany couldn't come because of his bad leg. That's not the case here though. Fuck Trump."

A Right Royal Wedding This is Turning Out To Be

Great start for Meghan Markle as she manages to walk around slowly and wave.

The future of the British monarchy, American Meghan Markle, has successfully negotiated her first official public engagement as she absolutely nailed walking slowly and waving at people. Crowds of people gathered out of morbid curiosity to see if a yank could in fact carry off both walking and waving at the same time without shooting anybody and she managed it and even threw in the odd handshake or two into the bargain.

A spokesperson for Buckingham Palace told us "we are delighted by Ms Markles outstanding start to public life, we were all a bit nervous how things would go today but she proved effortlessly that she could walk slowly and wave and, well, that's basically 85% of being part of the royal family. She's almost perfected it day one"

People lined the streets waving both the union flag and stars and stripes of the American flag which we presume they'll burn when President Trump makes his visit to the UK.

The only nervous moment was after shaking hands with one well wisher who had apologized for her hands being so cold Meghan reached into her coat pocket. Fortunately she pulled out some mittens and not a handgun as some had expected.

One on looker told us "She was so elegant. She managed walking slowly and waving just like Princess Diana did. It brought a tear to my eyes and fully justifies why we should have a Royal family."

This was just the first in a long line of public engagements for the newly engaged couple but if Ms Markle can continue to walk slowly and wave like she has done so far then she will soon become the nations favorite.

A Footnote from Kate

JUST REMEMBER WHO'S THE REAL FUCKING PRINCESS 'ERE

LET'S be very clear about this, Meghan. I am a princess. You are not.

Congratulations on your engagement to Harry, he's so lovely and funny that one almost forgets he's a ginger.

I'm sure you'll enjoy being a dukette or lady baron or whatever delightful thing they'll call you. There are lots of perks to this 'lower-tier' type of title, such as never needing to pre-book at Carluccio's and 20 per cent off at Odeon cinemas.

But I just wanted to avoid any misunderstanding about who is the actual princess in this situation. Yes, technically I may still be a duchess but ask anyone who ever wanted a fete opened or a potato picture painted with a random group of

IN LINE WITH OTHER CLASS BRITISH NEWSPAPERS WE AT THE TRASH WILL KEEP OUR READERS FULLY UP-DATED ON THE ROYAL WEDDING EVERY MONTH

I'm marrying into that reality TV family I told you about, Meghan Markle tells mother MEGHAN Markle has told her mother that she is marrying into the reality TV family known as the 'English Kardashians'. The former Suits star admitted that her acting career has struggled to gain traction and that she has resigned herself to a more low-brow form of televised entertainment.

She said: "I know I said I'd never do reality, but this is different. Their audience is global and their experience of leveraging income streams is second-to-none.

"I'll really reinvigorate their appeal in the US market. They're modernising, the older ones are being retired.

"It's not that intrusive - we decide what gets filmed, apart from the public scenes - and even if I move on after a few years I'm made for life.

"I know they tried to get Kendall Jenner. I know, mom, everyone in Hollywood knows, but her error is my opportunity, you know?"

"Do? They don't really do anything. They're just famous for being famous."

Their long anticipated engagement was announced by a jug eared baldy, whose parents are third cousins, on Monday morning with a statement saying the couple, who have been dating for 16 months, will marry early next year probably in April or May.

Ms Markle, an American coat salesman and actress, wore a white belted coat for a photo shoot in the sunken garden of Kensington palace following the announcement. The coat sold out in about half an hour, wherever it was on sale.

The distant cousins will live together in Harry's modest home, the 60 bedroom Nottingham "Cottage" at Kensington Palace. Ms Markle will become HRH and a senior royal, despite being only part cold-blooded lizard, after marrying her distant relative and joining the Windsors.

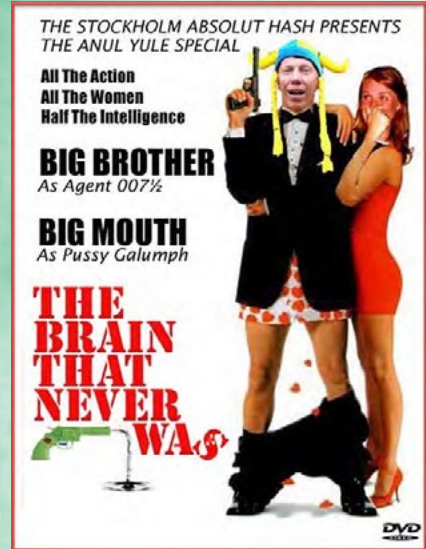

popvo kids, and they'll tell you I am (Fairytale) Princess Kate. That's right, bitch.

I'm sure you and I will be the best of friends, assuming the proper protocol is observed. This may include complimenting my hair on a half-hourly basis, not eating carbs within 200 yards of my presence and submitting your mobile telephone for regular 'anti-Kate propaganda screening'.

Sometimes people who don't get along with me have accidents, like at school when Gemma Carpenter-Price somehow fell out of the Dorm B window and couldn't have solid food for a month. That was unfortunate but I don't anticipate any such problems between us. Do you? No. Good..... Kate Middleton

GROUP OF NIGHT JOGGERS LOSE CONTROL KILLING 16 PEDESTRIANS

SIXTEEN pedestrians were killed and another 24 injured this evening in Brighton after a large group of joggers lost control on the coast road between Hove and Portslade.

Emergency services arrived on the scene at 6pm to find one of the worst running accidents the country has ever seen.

"Many of the emergency response team are being treated for shock, such was the carnage they witnessed," Fred Holden told the Brighton Gazette, "Not only that, but the group of joggers destroyed several buildings in the crash. Two dogs were also killed".

It is believed the joggers lost control after trying to avoid a street bin, swerving before then losing control of the back end of the group.

We understand the back end of the group then collided with oncoming pedestrians, knocking them down like skittles, before colliding with a number of houses situated on the side of the busy road," added Holden, "Several joggers had to be cut out of the buildings by the fire brigade".

The latest incident has yet again brought up the question about dangerously large groups running together on the footpaths and roads, with already 78 people being killed in jogger crashes so far this year.

"They have no brakes, no lights and zero respect for the people walking on the footpaths," voiced local man Derek DeVine, "I've been warning people for years about this. Now look what happened. Hopefully something will be done about it now".

Police person Enda Kenny later offered his condolences to the victims of today's crash, and promised to introduce a ban on jogging on public walkways and roads. He then proposed a nationwide footpath tax from 2018 for anyone wishing to use them, and discussed the possibility of walking licences being introduced next year.

ENGLAND QUALIFY FOR WORLD CUP AGAINST BETTER JUDGEMENT

ENGLAND have qualified for the 2018 World Cup finals in Russia despite their deepmisgivings about doing so. The team triumphed over Slovenia via a last-minute impulsive goal after spending 90 minutes wondering if this was even a good idea. Captain Harry Kane said: "Oh well. I guess we're going now. "I didn't have any plans for next summer anyway apart from moving to Madrid, and apparently Russia's nice and after we've got our three games out of the way there'll be plenty of time to look around.

Bollocks
Sorry about
the Goal lads

I describe the mood in the dressing room as a bit like when the missus booked us tickets to see Britney in Vegas, which she had talked about but I sort of hadn't realised was actually serious until it happened. That kind of feeling. Anyway the gaffer gave a really stirring talk about the law of averages and how you never know this time might be different. It's great to have a boss who knows what a deeply mixed experience playing for England is. Kane added: "I did apologise to the lads for scoring without checking with them first. They said it was fine but I'm not convinced they all meant it."

FA CUP CANCELLED DUE TO ROYAL WEDDING SCHEDULING CLASH

The Sports section of the Trash has learned that the Football Association have taken the unprecedented step of cancelling the 2018 FA Cup final. The move comes after it was revealed that Prince Harry's wedding will be on the same day. A spokesman for the FA said, "There's logistical concerns at play. Many thousands of people will want to get to Windsor to see the wedding. This will make getting in and out of London difficult. Also, Prince William is our president. He always attends and meets the teams as part of his role. We decided that we can't have a final if there's nobody there to present the trophy." It's alleged that the FA had several ideas on how to deal with the clash before settling on the option of just not bothering with a final. One was for traffic cones to be set down on the perimeter of the 18 yard box. The managers of each finalist would then be required to race a lawn mower around the cones with the winner being the first to complete 800 laps. Another option that was discussed was to present the trophy to the winner of the Scottish FA Cup final.

FANS PREPARE FOR INEVITABLE, CRUSHING DEFEAT TO PANAMA

England's football fans now know which tiny nation will destroy their World Cup dreams next summer. The Three Lions have been drawn in the same group as Panama, a country so small its total population is half that of London. Every major tournament sees England crumble to an international footballing minnow, and now all supporters have to look forward to is getting their excuses in early. Tiny Iceland, managed by a dentist, knocked England out of the European Championships two years ago. And the last World Cup in 2014 saw Costa Rica hold us to a draw before Uruguay hammered the last nail into our coffin. The draw in Russia yesterday also saw England matched in the group stage with Tunisia – another banana skin for Gareth Southgate and his overpaid squad. What makes the certain defeat to Panama even more disappointing is that everyone is saying England have got an easy draw – even if they were pulled out of the hat by nemesis Diego Maradona. England fan Lorraine Fisher, from Woodbridge in Suffolk said: "At least we now know what is going to happen – we'll snatch a draw against Tunisia but lose to Panama. "We'll obviously lose to Belgium, the fourth team in Group G, so that will see us back on the plane home before the second round as usual." Panama, in Central America, is famous for having a large canal. Even the second most interesting thing about the country – the Panama Hat – is not quite as exciting as it sounds. It originates from Ecuador. England have never played Panama before, meaning that after June next year the tiny country will enjoy a 100% winning record against their so-called mighty opponents for decades to come. It's all about losing really. 2017 saw England lose in the Rugby League World Cup Final to Australia in Brisbane and to cap that lose The Ashes to Australia in the 4th Christket Test at Adelaide. We know are footballers will not let England down..

This had to be dismissed as well due to the Scottish FA moving their cup final to May 19th to avoid it happening. Although, as one English FA representative pointed out, awarding the trophy to Celtic now would avoid this issue entirely. Privately, many Scottish FA officials are worried about the movement of their own cup final. Scottish people famously love the Royal Family and hold it in high esteem. In many cases, higher esteem than their own relatives or even, Buckfast. A member of the Scottish FA privately told us that many thousands of Scots will travel to attend the wedding of "Wee Harry". There are worries within the Scottish FA that there will be nobody left to actually watch the Scottish FA Cup final game. - Instead, the trophy will be presented to the winner of each of the English FA Cup semi finals held on 21st April. A move that has been celebrated by some fans as it means teams from Merseyside may have a chance of winning something this century.

ALL IN ALL IT'S JUST ANOTHER BRICK IN THE WALL

Donald Trump is poised to sell Alaska back to the Russians in order to fund his Mexican wall, it has emerged.

The US President sees Alaska as surplus to requirements now that America has plundered most of its natural resources. And with the White House locked in a Mexican standoff over who will pay for the massive wall across its southern border, the sale proceeds will come in handy.

America bought Alaska from the Russian Empire in 1867 for $7.2 million. Since then they have taken all of the gold and most of the oil and gas.

Furthermore, environmentalists have become a pain about keeping the state, north-west of Canada, in tip-top shape, and the residents have become a strain on the welfare budget.

Mr Trump came up with the plan to sell Alaska back to the Russians when an envoy from Moscow muted the idea of leasing back the territory so its super rich could go there on bear-hunting holidays. The Russians also believe native Americans in Alaska are actually Russian.

A White House spokesman said: "We don't really need Alaska anymore. It's stuck on the top of Canada miles away from anywhere, and quite frankly looking after it has become increasingly annoying and expensive."

"We have quoted a price of $10 billion to Russia, which represents quite a profit – and that will be more than enough to build our huge wall along the Mexican border."

Professor of Politics at Suffolk University, Dr Hugh Williamson said: "While this sale will solve Mr Trump's wall problems, it does pose another question: what will become of former Alaska governor Sarah Palin, seen here vainly flashing a welcome to Putin? The Russians won't want her."

SPRITSLY BRIGHTON HASH
PENSIONERS BASIL AND AUDREY

Elderly Brighton Hashers Basil and Audrey Belmarsh both 87 have won the annual Brighton & Hove Seniors Ice Cream Race in a record time.

The Brighton couple bought their cones at Brighton Pier and "ran" all the way down Sea Road to the amusement park before the last of the ice cream melted.

Thousands of elderly couples take part in the popular race each summer bank holiday weekend – and the Belmarshes, both aged 87, came out on top with a winning time of just 19 minutes.

The 400-metre course is fraught with obstacles, including greedy seagulls, drunks, people walking on the promenade while looking at their phones – and others whizzing around on disability scooters.

But Basil and Audrey, who recently celebrated their diamond wedding anniversary, evaded the lot to reach the park with several licks of their ice creams left.

"We've been taking part in the Brighton Seniors Ice Cream Race for years," explained Audrey. "But we have never been close. We started running in 1958 with the KL Hash and later the Brighton Hash so we have running in our genes. We've been practicing in the garden on hot days, and that, together with a bit of luck, was enough to see us romp home."

Entrants must be in mixed pairs and be over 75 years old to take part in the race, which attracts huge crowds who love the thrills and spills of the competition. The contestants set off from the pier at 30-second intervals to prevent congestion on the promenade. But that did not stop one unfortunate incident yesterday when four couples caught up with each other and began jostling for space.

Six people fell down from the prom to the beach below. They were not seriously hurt.

"The pensioners love taking part. Fortunately there are many benches for them to rest on if they get tired."

The Belmarshes were presented with their first prize – a year's free gym membership – at a special ceremony after which they headed towards the Post & Telegraph where they were joined by several younger members of the Brighton Hash for a few pints of life refreshing Porter.
