17TH PAN ASIA HASH ZHANGJIAJIE 2019

Why Zhangjiajie?

We believe China is the best choice due to its beautiful people, culture, cuisine and not to forget its landscapes. We have chosen Zhang Jia Jie for its breathtaking scenery, an amazing view while hashing in the land of avatar. A MUST GO event that is fully supported by the Chinese Tourism Minister/Board/Government.

Zhangjiajie, a city in the northwest of China's Hunan province, is home to the famed Wulingyuan Scenic Area. This protected zone encompasses thousands of jagged quartzite sandstone columns, many of which rise over 200m, as well as caves filled with stalactites and stalagmites. Wulingyuan also encompasses forests, rivers, waterfalls and 2 large natural land bridges, as well as endangered plant and animal species. - Wikipedia

Editor's Notes

End of an Era

After seventeen glorious years, Harrier Magazine bids a fond adieu to our many friends, contributors, readers and sponsors who have supported our efforts to provide a world HHH publication from 2002-2019.

In this final edition Quick Drawers, our well traveled editor-at-large, takes us from the Grand Caymans to the tiny country of Andorra high in the Pyrenees, and on to Belgrade, Serbia. QD certainly gets around and has graciously shared his worldly adventures with our readers over the years.

Bush Diver takes us to Bali, the Indonesian Island of the Gods and HHHiggins reflects on his quarter century of hashing around the globe.

This edition salutes a true Hash Hero, Darwin Don, who was the world's oldest hasher until his passing this year.

Hash Boy has made us laugh with his hilarious hash adventures. Ajarn Keemao has mused of life, gin and other earthly pleasures.

Special thanks go out to our designer, Jimmy Wilkins, who made the editorial content look sharp in the print and digital publications for the last ten years.

JIM ON TRAIL IN HAWAII.

CARIBBEAN HASHING 2020

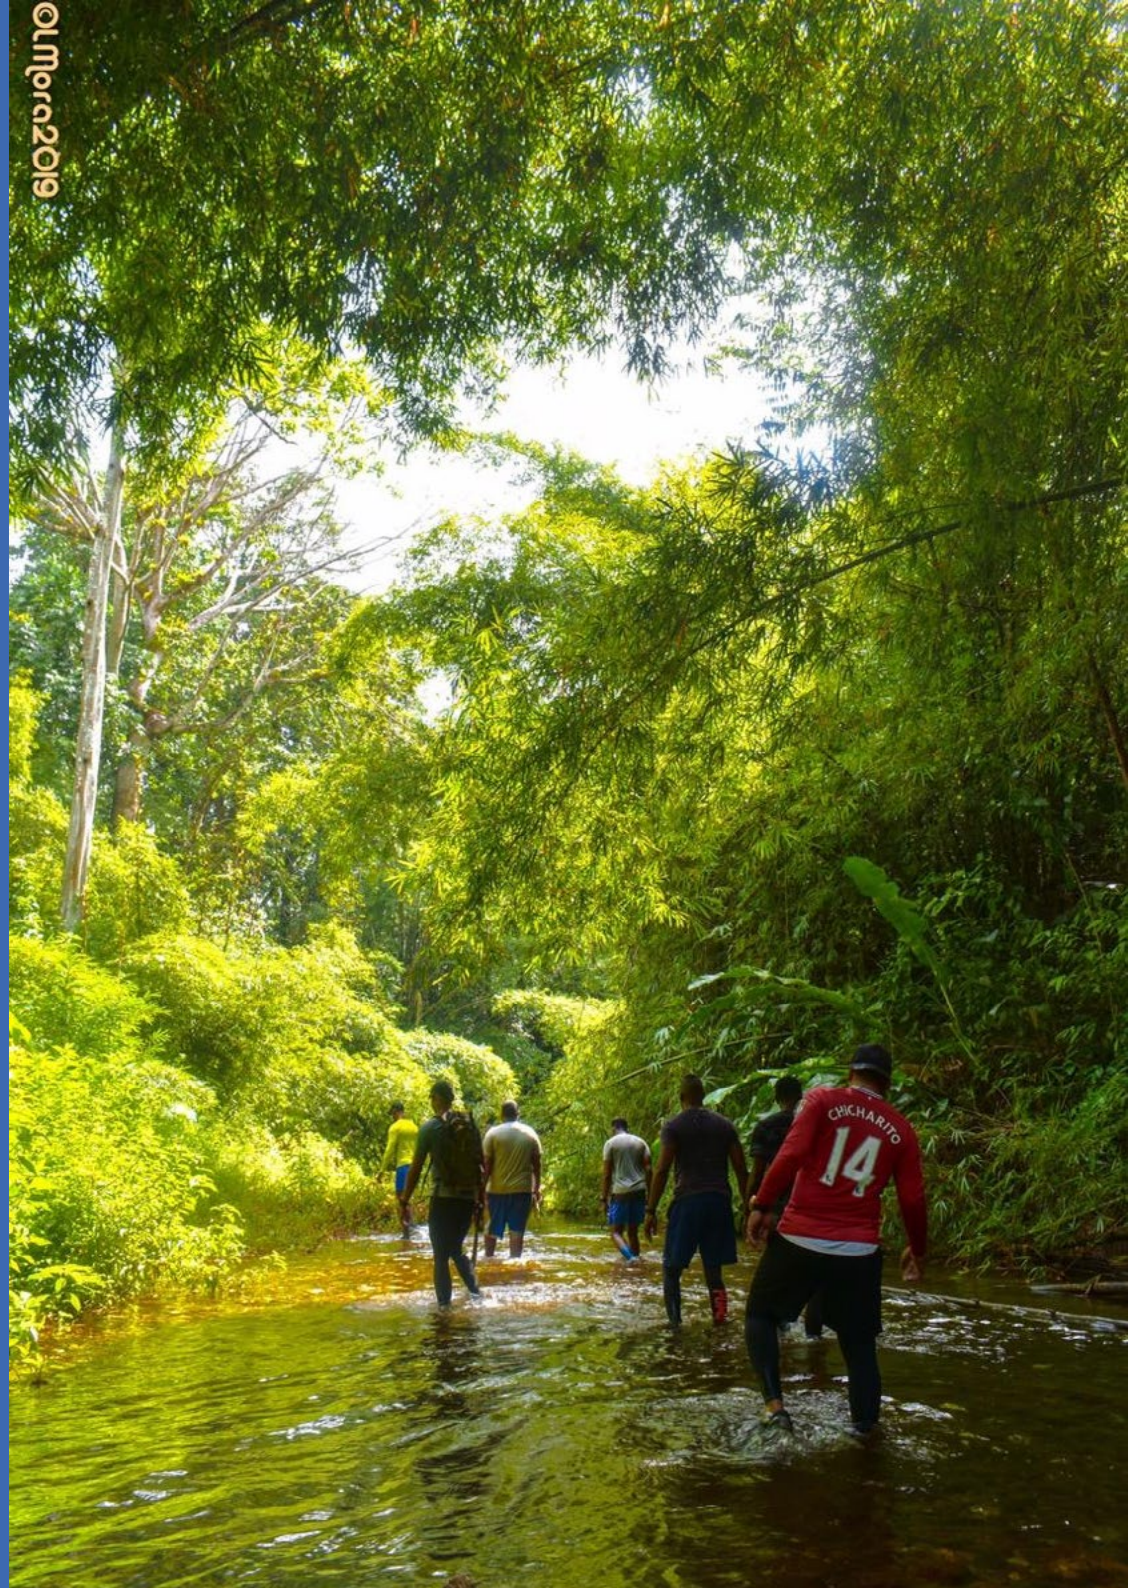

Pace yourself, Its more than a hash -
IT'S A PARTY!

CONTENTS

interhash 2020, hosted in Trinidad and Tobago will be the first time the event would be hosted in the Americas, offering you more than just a fantastic hash experience but a total Caribbean experience.

What better way to feel the warmth of the Caribbean than hashing?

Explore over 700 islands and 13 nation states in 1 million Square miles in sun baked open waters. Divided in to the English speaking, Spanish, French and Dutch islands, island hoppers can expect to be greeted in one or more of the 7 official languages spoken in the Caribbean or numerous other languages brought over by its inhabitants which are still spoken in smaller communities e.g. Arabic, Hindi, Patios and 'slangs' which can be a mixture of many others.

©Interhash2019

What do these islands have in common you ask? Historically all of the Caribbean islands, despite their close proximity, have distinctly different historic experiences. While all the islands share the experience of being invaded by foreign powers, each of those powers brought with them completely different languages and cultural practices. What brings the Caribbean islands together is the verbosity, vibrancy and colourful mixture of food and music, none more so than Trinidad, which holds the honor of being the melting pot and party center of the Caribbean. There is never a dull moment on the big island, while the sister isle is known to be clean, green and serene.

Two Hash Cruises set sail on the warm, sparkling, Caribbean seas in 2020. The Prelube Cruise takes you from Puerto Rico to St Maarten, St Kitts, Antigua, St Lucia to Barbados as you hash your way closer to Trinidad, to what promises to be one of the most spectacular Interhashes ever. The Post Lube Cruise takes you the other way from the Dutch Antilles, as you sail your way back from the event.

Other hashers have decided to explore the Caribbean on their own, some choosing to charter boats to sail the Grenadines, while others have chosen to turn their attention to the South American main land, Suriname, Belize and Guyana. Others have chosen to make their way back South by exploring the larger South American countries. There is so much to do and experience in the region.

Located 7 miles from the South American mainland, Trinidad boasts of lush rain forests, an abundance of flora and fauna like no other. You can look forward to stunning vistas, challenging trails and of course those raucous 'Down Downs'.

Get some rest because while there is so much planned for you by the Committee, other international kennels have come on board to add to the fun. The Sad Cow is making an early appearance, on the Wednesday 22nd. Thursday morning greets you at the world famous Maracas beach, with a 'Plant a tree Drink for free'- coconut tree replacement exercise. When last tree gets planted the Interhash Beach Rugby Challenge begins right on the beach till 1pm. Don't overdo it though, because at 5.30pm that afternoon the Red dress run kicks off with Steelband music and much more. This will definitely be a first for the Red Dress. That takes care of Wednesday and Thursday, 3 more days to go.

Friday morning at 4.30am will find you on a bus heading to the Chaguaramas Nature Reserve on the Western peninsula, for the Pre Dawn Jouvert run. That's correct. Sunrise will find you on a misty trail experiencing the fresh breeze as it rustles through the Bamboo Cathedral, to the sounds of the birds and animals as they wake to feed in the lush rain forest. Watch out for the false trails as you might end up covered in different coloured paint. You won't escape the colour extravaganza. Be prepared to enjoy yourself. It's an experience you won't forget. As the sun rises you too will be brightly coloured like a Caribbean flower.

Down downs on this site will be like no other you ever experienced. 'Chip' past the large Samaan tree to Soca Music, past the dew sprinkled Chaguaramas Golf Course to your first Breakfast beach party. Its non-stop 2020. Don't worry you get to wash all that paint off under the water trucks ready to blast you with spray, or choose to remain covered in brilliant colour. I would. At 10.30 am its back on the bus and back home to rest up for the 'Hamersley Off Shore Run' carded for that afternoon. Oh, so you were under the misguided impression that you lay back and rest up in the Caribbean? Not in this island. Leave that for the others and for our sister isle Tobago. Trinidad is no sleepy island. We set the pace.

Did I mention that at 5.30 pm the real party begins? The Official launch of the World Interhash 2020 gets going at 5.30pm. What do you mean? Hasn't the event started yet? That was just the teaser. The Opening Ceremony will be full of Caribbean Flavour and a few Trini surprises and promises to be memorable.

Ready to hash now? Saturday morning kicks off with a choice of 15 runs across the Northern and Central Ranges of the island including the Bra & Pants run. A mixture of waterfalls, wetlands, rolling plains, sandy beaches and river crossings promise to leave the avid hasher thrilled.

Saturday night it's your night. Skits from your friends will take the stage, entertaining you along with bands to keep you on the beat. But don't over do it, there is still Sunday looming.

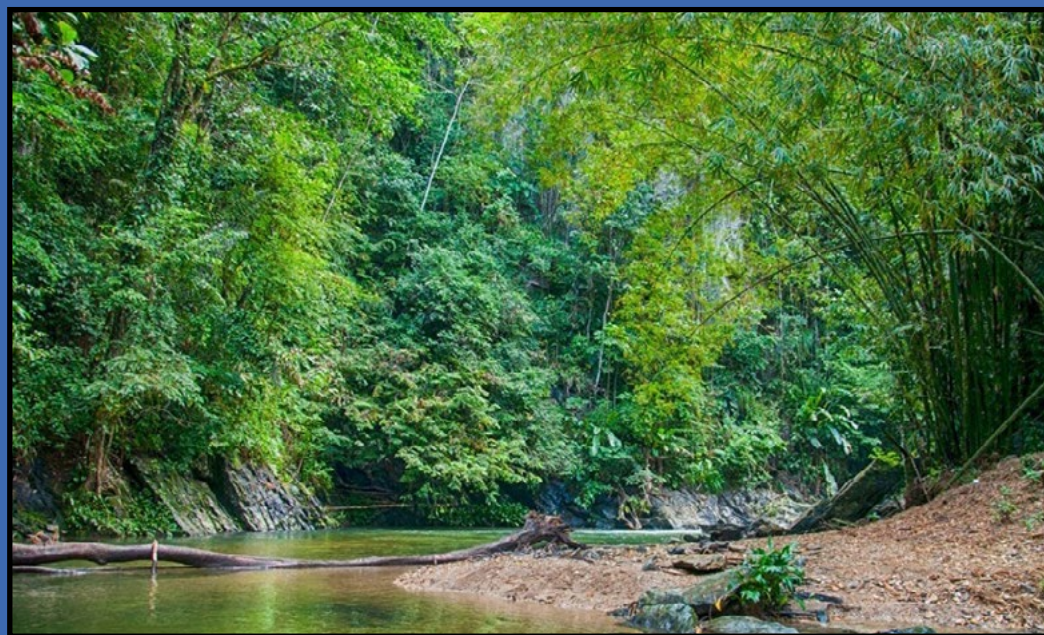

Blasted with paint, drenched in beer, challenged on trails, abused by your friends at the Down Downs, sprained, partied and hungover, are you ready for another day?

10 more to go. Told you to pace yourself. This is Trinidad. Non Stop 2020! We put something in your goodie bag. That's the Sunday night! The biggest Carnival fete of any Interhash. So get dressed, all those aches and pains will be gone once the party starts. Don't forget to bring that item.

The Party starts from the moment you set foot on Caribbean Airlines to any island in the Caribbean as you make your way down South to Trinidad and Tobago. Non Stop 2020!

If you haven't registered yet, get your act together, click on the link and sign up to the best Caribbean trip ever! On on to Non-stop 2020!

Grand Cayman Hashing

by Quick Drawers

Monday is a hashing night, on Grand Cayman. Hashers begin arriving in advance of the 6PM start, for this somewhat non-traditional hash, when compared to what most of today's hashes have evolved into. Upon arrival at this Monday nights start; the Hare presented arriving hashers with several maps depicting recommended runner and walkers' trails. There are no pre-set chalk, shredded paper or flour marks to follow; but the long-term resident Grand Cayman hashers have no problem selecting their choice of trail and heading out. Start equals finish for these hashes, normally from or near the hare's place of residence.

I will include a short rebuttal for my non-traditional hash comment. This hash in many ways may compare to early hash founders' type of hashing! With a group of members hashing over familiar territory, on a rotating basis, there is little need for marked trails. There was no Hash Cash activities Monday night and it appeared the hare hosts each end of run hash with plentiful cold beer, and snacks. There are no hash names used among the Grand Cayman hashers and the various hash shirts that I saw referenced the Hash's participation in the Grand Cayman annual Cross Island Relay events.

Their website at www.caymanhash.com does advise their hash was founded in April of 1978 and that their group is primarily focused on running and walking events. They don't receive a large number of visiting hashers each year; but all are warmly welcomed to run, walk and socialize with them. The website also lists their upcoming hash schedule, for 2-3 months in advance, with dates, locations, & contact info. This in itself is very useful for anyone planning future travel to Grand Cayman.

Hashing thru the Marina and Yacht Cub area

One of the walking trails for this evening departed from the northern end of the Seven Mile Beach and crossed under a West Bay Road overpass. The wide dirt road we followed continued straight until reaching the Cayman Islands Yacht Club and Marina area. Our walk continued around the harbor and Salt Creek area and then back down Yacht Drive and On In, to the starting location, on Seven Mile Beach, with its crystal-clear water.

There was no Hash Circle, just good conversation (with previously mentioned cold beer and snacks) and the opportunity to socialize with the members of this friendly hash. As darkness approached everyone thanked the Hare, for an enjoyable evening and her warm hospitality. Thanks again to the Cayman Hash. I look forward to hashing with many of them again at Interhash 2020 in Trinidad & Tobago.

Indonesia and Malaysia are very similar neighboring countries. Both countries speak dialects of the same language. People familiar with the hash know that Malaysia has the largest number of hash clubs per capita in the world and thousands of regular hashers so it should be no surprise that hashing is very popular in Indonesia as well. Whenever there is a major hashing event in Malaysia there will be many attendees from Indonesia and vice versa. Bali is the primary tourist destination for Indonesia partly because of its abundance of beautiful beaches, nice weather and its closeness to Australia.

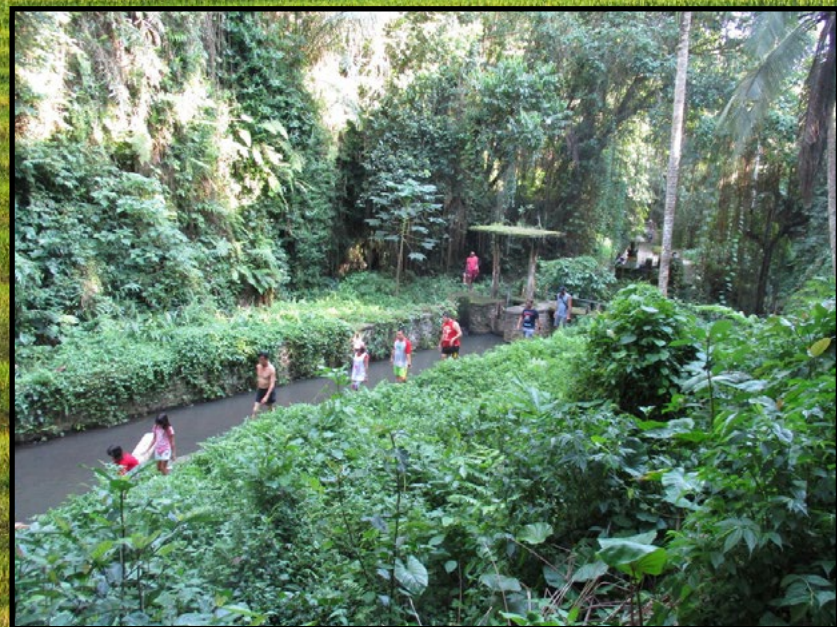

Hashing in

Bali Indonesia

by Steve Roney

Bali is actually a fairly large island and its capital and major city is Denpasar. There are several hash clubs in Bali including Bali Hash House Harriers and Bali Hash House Harriers 2. These are the primary hash clubs and this article deals only with these two clubs. Bali Hash meets twice per week on Monday and Thursday afternoon. Bali Hash 2 meets every Saturday afternoon. Both hash clubs draw more than 100 hashers for every meeting. Bali was the host city for the 2016 Interhash and many of the weekly trails are in the same area as this Interhash.

Most tourists stay in Kuta Beach or Sanur Beach which are beautiful places with many resorts. Unfortunately all the nice hash trails are in places like Ubud and Gianyar which are somewhat far away. All of the regular hashers drive to the run sites. For a visitor the only way to the run sites is a taxi or riding with another hasher. There are large buses traveling around the island but there are no small jeepneys or baht buses like in Philippines and Thailand. There are motorcycles and cars available for rent but I recommend against this option because the roads are very narrow and confusing. None of the roads have street signs. Fortunately the taxis are plentiful and cheap. The hash clubs post directions to the trail start point several days in advance. Look for the HHH sign which is posted near the trail start point.

CONTENTS

The primary religion in Bali is Hinduism so there are thousands of Hindu temples all over the island. The primary farm product is rice which requires a lot of water. As a result the farmers have constructed numerous canals to transfer the water from the nearby rivers and wells to their rice fields. The hash trails many times follow alongside these canals, thru the rice fields and alongside the numerous Hindu temples and shrines. The central part of Bali has some hills and lots of jungle terrain so the combination of all of that is the description of a Bali Hash trail. About half of the hashers are western nation expats and the rest are Indonesians.

The Hash follows the normal routine with a trail followed by beer drinking socializing and a circle. I found the hashers to be friendly and they did a good job of making us feel welcome. So if you are in Bali be sure to join the Bali Hash and Bali Hash 2.

HHH:

The end of an era?...

by Higgins, on trail since 1991

photos by various contributors over the years

Having recently decided to clean up my bucket list over the next 5 years I looked at what I'd still like to achieve and reflected on 25+ years travelling the world with the Hash House Harriers.

By now I have hashed across 90 countries and visited 300+ kennels. Having organised many events of various sizes including a handful of Bus Tours from HHHell (42 pax), two Belgian Nash Hash (100 pax), EuroHash 1997 (666 pax) and Brussels 2014 Beer Odyssey (2,525 pax) I guess this somewhat provides me with a unique perspective on the world of hashing and its evolution over the last three decades.

Back in 1991 when I started hashing rule #1 in many kennels was "no poofers". Since my English was a bit basic then, I had to enquire about its meaning and received a Down Down for that. Back in the 2000's I remember the reaction of a retired navy hasher who, when asked if he was joining us later, burst into an apoplectic bout that all male hashers joining a RDR were poofers.

Also most hash songs had a strong patriarchal connotation, and one must wonders how harriettes put up with this. I guess it was attuned to the social fabric of those times, just as my engineering university was.

Eventually hashing evolved in the right direction and is now much more inclusive.

... Or the start of a new one?

NEW BOOTS

While demography varies a lot in the hashing world, continental Europe has seen many kennels getting smaller and smaller over time, sometimes folding completely. Initially the UK and US Diplomatic Corp, armed forces and large multinational companies generated many hashers.

The end of the cold war, budget cuts, IT remote working possibilities, toxic work culture about long hours and heavy commuter traffic all contributed to drying the new boots pipeline. Politically correctness, multimedia distractions and individualism further hammered it.

Recruitment is now a major challenge, and kennels who became complacent over the years are struggling to maintain double digits attendance. The average age of European kennels is now quite old, and several kennels have turned into private groups of friends who've been hashing together for many years. Will these still be active in another 20 years?

One new channel that seems to be working reasonably well for committees willing to focus on attracting new blood is the online app called MeetUp. Target audience is 20-30 year-olds, and it is possible to reach hundreds of muggles who would never give it a try on their own. At least once you get a critical mass of younger faces showing up regularly on your kennel attracting more young people becomes a reality.

FEAR OF MISSING OUT

Kennels with a reputation for organising great hash weekends see their events filling up nicely, even selling out a few months before the actual event date. Once-in-a-lifetime event Oslo H3 Midnight Sun weekend (150 places) in June 2009, featuring a venue north of the Arctic Circle, probably was the record older until recently, having sold out 9 months ahead.

Something relatively new is major events selling out within a few days of registration opening, one or two years ahead. EuroHash 2021 in Prague (700 places) sold out within 10 days, InterAmerica 2021 in Medellin (1,000 places) within 2 days and the trend is similar for smaller recurring events such as German NH (150-200 places) and Belgian NH (100 places).

Since these type of events are now being systematically advertised through Facebook, the message directly reaches more potential participants more quickly, and on-line registration makes it easier to take action immediately.

However it actually means additional work for the organising committee since 20% of the initial registered participants will never pay and another 10 to 20% will change their mind and resell their tickets, generating additional administration.

MISMANAGEMENT

Size does NOT matter, honest! Brussels Manneke Piss H3 (BMPH3), my mother hash, has a mismanagement team which varied in size between 4 and 12 officers over 30 years and I never saw a correlation between size and results. However, it is important to remember that all hashers on Mismanagement are volunteers, and running the hash should be enjoyable. To make this happen with a smaller team, all members must be very dedicated to their Hash and to realising their annual events.

The minimum mismanagement team size is 1, since someone must make sure there is at the very least a trail to hash, the rest being discretionary. In my half-mind the most important position is not GM, but Hare Raiser/Hash Lash and - of course - one person could fill both positions. H5 (Honolulu Hawaii) has been happily running on that back-to-basic structure for many many years and nobody has a problem bringing their own favourite drink.

BeerMeister is probably the most demanding job since nobody fancies drinking virtual beer, and logistics is paramount. This officer should always be treated with utter respect especially if the beer choice is plentiful and the golden nectar cold enough. This position is pretty much a must-have on kennels where hounds use the extensive public transport network in order to safely drink and make it home in one piece. HHHail to Munich H3 Speedo Gonzales, probably the longest serving BeerMeister in the world.

There might be no rules on the hash, yet traditions may abound. Psychology tells us that traditions help a group of individuals be bound together (good), while for some individuals with a fixed mindset it can become an obsession (not that good). As much as I can agree upon format and circle proceedings being pretty much immutable, I never understood kennels insisting there is only one Down Down song (Why were they born... or They're true blue...) that can be used in their circle, what a bore!

Traditions take a worst turn when it means bringing a kennel to its certain death by ignoring logistics constraints such as the fact that traffic in the area has become so bad that attendance on a workday dwindles to a single handful; or there is an impossibility to find hares other than retired hashers.

Then there is the odd tendency of some officers to cling to their position forever, perhaps even for the GM to become a Tyrant-for-life (unless, of course, it is a tradition for that kennel ;-)). Nobody is safe from the danger of becoming a boring old fart, whatever their age!

Sydney Thirsty H3 - probably the most friendly hash on Planet Earth - combine the many qualities of welcoming virgins and visitors and making them feel part of the group by the start of the circle; offering a very good selection of drinks, being easily accessible by public transport and ensuring a constant rotation of mismanagement officers every other year or so.

Above all, as much as possible, remember to make Mismanagement low stress and fun.

HASH DIRECTORY

The rule of thumb for contacting local hashes while travelling in the 80's was to call the UK or US embassy to find out if there was a local kennel. Then came the excellent directory published by Magic until his death in 1997. Afterwards, thanks to a prompt from yours truly, by subsequent World InterHash organising committees under the helm of Canberra H3 D2HD who would contact each regional webmaster and compile the file on a biennial basis.

Last publication could be found in the Kuching 2010 goodie bag since by then the omnipresence of internet and its associated cafés meant the data was accessible to any hasher at any time. While this helped saving a few trees, it might have had the unexpected side effect of a lack of incentive for local kennels to update their contact data on a regular basis. The expansion of Facebook as a ubiquitous online mean of communication probably didn't help, and finding local HHH information is certainly not easier for less travelled places.

Worth mentioning for continental Europe is the brand new successful effort by The Hague H4 Pink Panter to recreate an online up-to-date basic directory linking to kennels still active: www.hashhouseharriers.nl/eu-chapters.

The best point of entry to the HHH galaxy remains Hazukashii's website: www.gototheshash.net

WORLD INTERHASH

What started as a special one-off celebration in Hong Kong back in 1978 became a mammoth over time, seeing the largest attendance in Chiang Mai 2006 with approx. 6,000 participants. Since this biennial event left the Asian continent after 4 consecutive editions, numbers recently lowered to a much more manageable and pleasant crowd size with Fiji 2018 hosting about 1,250 guests and Trinidad 2020 looking under 2,000 participants.

Goa 2002 was a game changer, proving that it was possible to organise such an event in a region with no hash kennel, by a committee made of experienced hashers from various continents. Cardiff 2004 proved that hashers are willing to travel to unchartered territories with no tropical temperatures as long as bidders do an excellent marketing with a positive mind-set.

Kuching 2010 unfortunately left a sour taste in our mouth due to an overall lack of accountability after it appeared the registration fee was way over actual costs, and the post-event rumour of individuals pocketing large sum of money sounded very plausible.

In a stark contrast Borobudur 2012 was a one-of-a-kind superlative event with incredible stage background (Prambanan and Borobudur temples, both World Heritage sites), entertainment by top performers and police escort for avoiding traffic. Of course having a Chairman - King Kong - who is a multimillionaire hasher and wanted to showcase his region to the rest of the hashing world, made a huge difference since the budget was virtually unlimited. He actually donated a quarter million dollars to produce what will remain a World InterHash in a league of its own!

Trinidad 2020 will likely be another game changer since the organiser is an event management company; probably the way to go for future events of this size: get local hashers to focus on their core business of haring trails and subcontract everything else to professionals.

BEER, GLORIOUS BEER!

It would be rude not to finish without a mention of our favourite thirst quencher. From the many kennels I have visited and events I have attended, here are my personal awards.

Most impressive beer selection on a regular hash:

- BMPH3 (Belgium) offering a minimum weekly selection of 7 brews spanning the entire Belgian beer spectrum from pilsner to Trappist
- Sydney Thirsty H3 (Australia) always foraging for good beer as the new kid in town
- Rarotonga H3 (Cook Islands) providing all 13 beers commercially available on the island

Biggest beer selection on a special event:

- Belgian Nash Hash 2015 in Sankt-Vith -> 69+15
- Belgian Nash Hash 2006 in Mechelen -> 69
- Sydney Thirsty H3 AGPU 2019 in the Blue Mountains -> 35

Belgrade, Serbia

Sunday Afternoon Hashing

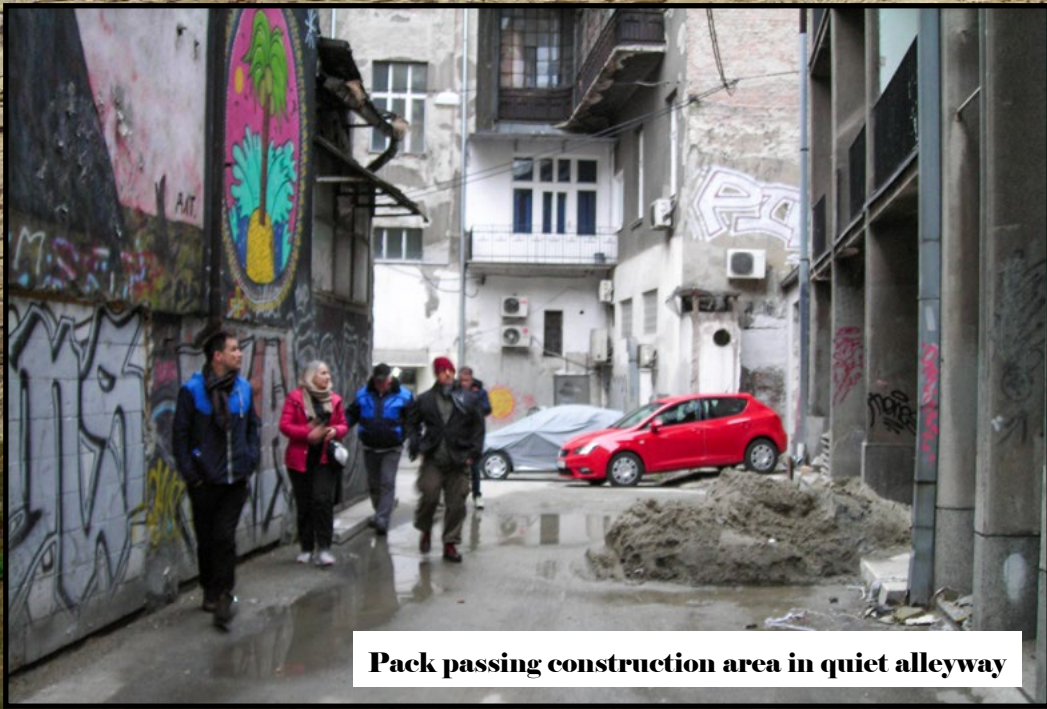

by Quick Drawers

The Belgrade hash routinely hashes on Sunday, on a bi-weekly basis. As this week's pack, with members from the U.K, Australia, Germany, USA and Serbia of course, assembled at the designated start location, the first to arrive was the stand-in hare "Shaggy Dog" (original hare to be "Poos in Boots" was home suffering from previous evenings activities). Once everyone else had arrived, "Shaggy Dog" (he also serves as the group's Religious Advisor and their humble resident genius), advised he was intending to set a 6-kilometer trail for their enjoyment. At this announcement, several of the group, which apparently also had enjoyed too much of a good time the previous night, collectively encouraged him to take pity on them and shorten the intended hash. Their pleas and sad looks prevailed, as did his own hangover, an everyone enjoyed the resulting shortened trail, which included three welcomed drink stops.

Trail started out and on up a quiet residential street and it wasn't long before the first drink stop was reached. The pack was able to choose from eight flavorful and potent Serbian brandies. This actually resulted in a marked improvement of those several hashers that were previously a bit sluggish and subdued. Trail continued on out and around the area in the vicinity of central Belgrade. A second stop was in a basement/underground, Brkati tavern that served up a pint of each hashers choice of tasty draft beer. The final beer stop was in Gunner's Pub, another establishment with a lively clientele. As darkness descended upon the pact, the last portion of trail ended in a small park where the dual-hatted Religious Advisor "Shaggy Dog" conducted the traditional circle. After each of the normal formalities were recognized and respective hashers rewarded, circle concluded with the presentation of a Belgrade Hash Mug to appreciative visiting hashers "Cho Choo" and myself.

"Always Coming" (Belgrade Hash Cash and primary POC) made the determination for the evenings ON ON. She selected a very nice nearby restaurant specializing in traditional Serbian dishes. A large selection of great tasting food, accompanied by flavorful red wine, made for a very memorable dinner and continued good conversation.

As the meal ended, unnamed hasher Just Alex was named “Dairy Queen” and doused with ample white flour, by RA “Shaggy Dog”, to the amusement of nearby patrons and staff alike.

When you are able to visit Serbia and enjoy an afternoon with the Belgrade hash, follow that up by encouraging the group to select a restaurant serving traditional Serbian dishes. You can't go wrong and it will make your hash and evening that much more special. We want to extend another big Thank You to the Belgrade Hash for their warm comradery and fine hospitality.

The Belgrade Hash is in the process of updating contact information on Haz's gototheflash.net site. In the near-term they can be reached at belgradehashers@yahoo.com.

20th Intergulf Bahrain March 19, 20, 21 2020

Bahrain Hashes will be hosting the 20th Intergulf next year.

You'll be treated to the Bahrain hospitality with 3 days of drinking, hashing in the desert, eating, dancing and maybe a camel or 2.

Bahrain also hosts the Formula 1 Grand Prix around that time. Their calendar is yet to be published, as we are hoping that it is similar to last year - and you could make a week of hashing and grand prix.

Intergulf Registration will open in September.

Vale DARWIN DON... “On On On..”

March 19, 1923 —October 9, 2019 [Age 96]

The world’s oldest active Hashman Darwin Don [DONALD ERNEST GRENVILLE] finally ran out of puff and died in Sydney, Australia on October 9, 2019.

A Life Member of Sydney Hash House Harriers, Darwin Don was a Hashman since 1975. His crowning achievement was undoubtedly being named World President of all Hashdom at the 50th Anniversary of Sydney Hash in 2017. Although his decades-long allegedly unconsummated, platonic ‘marriage’ to Sydney Harriettes’ Captain Knockers was a huge highlight!

A ‘living wake’ was held in Newcastle north of Sydney with him two weeks before his death with 130 of his admirers. He generously shouted the bar all night, listening to many anecdotes and memories. Darwin as always, spoke appreciatively and hilariously in response ...

Here is how Sydney Hash’s Bigamist researched and remembered Darwin’s extraordinary life:

Darwin Don at his last Run

Sydney Posh Hash, Run #2728.

DON "DARWIN DON" GRENVILLE AKA "GYPO" ALSO "MOE"
March 19, 1923 – October 9, 2019

"Gypo" is a name Don has carried throughout his life. It was a nick name given to him at primary school and hashers at his Mother Hash, Casuarina H3 in Darwin mostly only know him as that. Gypo is a slang term for people of the Egyptian race and Don had that likeness. Though his mother was Italian and his father an Aussie he was the only one of his family NOT born in Egypt.

Born and raised in Perth, Western Australia, Don waited for his 18th birthday in the dark days of wartime 1941 and enlisted in the Australian Army, 2/11 Infantry Battalion and a short time later after his training period, sailed on the Queen Mary to the Middle East (he actually lied about his age and as far as the Army is concerned he would have turned 100 next year). He fought in Palestine and Syria before returning to Australia and applied to sign up with first the Commandos, and then later the pioneering 1st Australian Paratroop Battalion based at Tocumwal on the NSW/Victorian border. He had a poisoned foot when he applied for the Commando Regiment so he was knocked back but got accepted for the paratroopers. By the time they'd done their regulation number of 2000 feet jumps from the RAAF's DC3 aircraft his unit was at the peak of fitness and ready for some action. With the Pacific war raging and the growing Japanese threat close by there was talk that his battalion was earmarked to deploy to Borneo to rescue the Australian prisoners of war who were perishing in their thousands on the infamous Sandakan death camps. The troop was keen to go but the mission was aborted at the last moment and then there was talk they would have to be dropped over Singapore to relieve the mass evacuation of 1945 but that didn't happen either. Don held those wartime friendships throughout his life and as the years went by his mates succumbed to the rigours of life until at this year's Anzac Day March in Sydney he was the "last man standing". He and his mates marched every year and as he became the only one capable he was accompanied at each march by fellow Hashman Lindsey "Molly Meldrum" Smith, Chief Petty Officer RAN. He was a Life Member of the Redfern Returned Servicemen's Club.

After the war he returned to his trade as an auto panelbeater but decided the noise was too much so managed to enter university to undertake a degree in Economics. A couple of years of study was enough and he secured a job with the Australian Bureau of Statistics and did much work carrying out census work in outback Western Australia and Northern Territory.

Darwin Don loving a Leffe beer
- Tallinn July 2014

His leisure time was spent playing U19 Aussie Rules football for Nedlands (pre his war service), and as a member of North Cottesloe Surf Life Saving Club where he won numerous local, state and national beach events in the 1950s and '60s. One of those events is a sprint on sand and that was the beginning of Don's love of running. He was a Life Member of North Cottesloe S.L.S.C and was guest of honour at the 100th Anniversary in May this year. He being the only pre-war member. At the 600 person black-tie event on the Saturday night his partner was his ex-sister-in-law who is the oldest female member of the club. His wish was to have his ashes spread at sea off North Cottesloe Beach. In the early '70s "Stats" sent him from Perth on a short secondment to Darwin, a place he fell in love with. When the opportunity came to return to help with recovery work after Cyclone Tracy had wiped out the city on Christmas Eve 1974, he grabbed it. A 3-month posting which lasted 5 years.

He'd read in European Runners World about the Hash House Harriers and was talking to a work-mate about it. The mate said if he was interested he should give the "Avis Girl" a call as she knew about Hash in Darwin. There started his Hashing. Neil "Crum" Crummy remembers the first day he met him on run night at Casuarina H3. He introduced himself to Don by saying "what's an old fart like you doing here with this mob" (you have to remember Darwin in those days was the wild west, full of young men). Don responded "watch how you use the words old fart around me young fella". Crum said he immediately warmed to the "Old Fart" and there started a life-long friendship which continued to the end. Casuarina Hash didn't use Hash handles in those days but Don brought his with him – "Gypo". He was GM 1976-77 and was at that time known as “Moe” because of his large thick black droopy Tom Sellick-esque moustache. He regarded himself a Casuarina Hashman to the core.

For the 1977-78 Australian Census Don was sent to Sydney. As a runner, he decided to run the City 2 Surf fun run. He was running up “heart break hill” when he noticed a runner wearing a Hash t-shirt so he engaged the guy who happened to be Ole “Sparks” Vigestol (Chairman of Interhash 1984). Sparks gave him his phone number and Don recited it to himself over and over for the next seven kilometres. He returned to Sydney and joined the Sydney H3 (Posh Hash) where he was duly named “Darwin Don”. He served as Posh President 2012-13 at age 90 but was m.i.a most of the year travelling the globe. At the 50th Anniversary of Sydney H3 in 2017 he was crowned “World Hash President”.

He carried his athletic prowess throughout his life and has competed nationally and internationally. In the 2009 World Masters Games in Sydney he wanted to register for the 1500 metre race at the Betty Cuthbert Stadium in the Olympic Park. He got a mate to sign him up for the race but unfortunately there was a mix-up and Don ended up having to compete instead in the 10,000 metre road race! He'd never run that far in his life ... it nearly killed him and he was cursing his mate... but in the end he got the silver medal. He also competed in the Masters Games in Turin, Italy in the Over 90yo 100m, 200m and 1500m events. His support team consisted of Hashers Wagga Rod, OS, Ace and 9W. He was a bit pissed off that they put 85-year-olds in his events because there were no other competitors his age. The local sports magazine noted that after winning one race Darwin asked for a beer. Up until his early 90s, to keep up his fitness, he also used to swim several times a week with the famous Coffee Club swimming group, founded by the late English Channel Swim King, Des Renford at the pool named after the famous marathon champion. A shoulder injury which he'd carried since his war service soon made swimming too painful so he started at the local gym doing circuit training at 5am each day. Something he continued until he moved from Sydney's eastern suburbs to the northern beaches in January 2019. At Gym he was the only guy with a room full of “Luvlies”.

He travelled with the Hash all over the world, in fact 18 times to Africa where he had an old Hash mate “Fearless Fred” from Darwin. When he went to Brussels in 2014 he did a trip to Russia. Upon filling out the online visa application it was necessary to list all the countries one had travelled to in the last 10 years. Darwin's list was so long that when the document was printed to one page (for lodgement) it was impossible to read that block as the type was so small.

Darwin Don enjoying a 'light' lunch of cabbage soup and vodka shot - Tallinn July 2014

For his 90th birthday some Hash mates paid for Darwin to do a tandem free-fall skydive joining with Bigamist who'd also been given a jump for his 60th by the same hashers. He'd always wanted to do free-fall as he'd only ever done 2000 feet static line jumps so the prospect of 13,000 feet was eagerly anticipated. (He had also jumped with a group of Poshmen in 1984.) The jump was organised from Singleton airport in the Hunter Valley, which is adjacent to Singleton Army Base. Don reminded those there on the day that during paratrooper training they'd flown from RAAF base Richmond to jump into Singleton then do a 150 km route march back through the mountains. The plane from which they had jumped crashed on its return to Richmond, killing the pilot.

At Ballarat NashHash in 2017, Pizza had asked the Newcastle Hash to be chorus in his Hash act. In the end Darwin (now aged 94) was the only one willing to accompany Pizza and his job was to just tingle a bell on cue as support to Pizza's lip-sync singing of That's Amore. Unbeknown to Pizza, Darwin was in the background ringing the bell but also doing a full strip tease. Pizza took the great response from the 700-strong Hash crowd as applause for him - Darwin told him later that he was only the supporting act. This wasn't the first time Darwin had “stripped”. He was at a farewell dinner, in a Beijing restaurant with a (non-Hash) group with whom he'd travelled through China and Tibet. As his farewell speech to his fellow travellers he jumped up on the table and dropped his trousers to show off the colourful underwear he'd purchased during a little diversion he'd made during a lunch break on the tour.

On September 21 this year, at Darwin's request, Mr Smart from Newcastle H3 and Bigamist from Sydney H3, organised a Living Wake. Darwin

History, Humour and Hell-raising from the Hash House Harriers.

Unauthorised by Stu 'The Colonel' Lloyd, creator of best-selling
"Hardship Posting" series. Foreword by 'Tumbling' Bill Panton

"wanted to hear what people would say about him", so 130 Hash, and other close friends gathered in Newcastle to tell stories about him. Darwin staked the bar and the food and booze flowed. At the end of the evening Darwin said to Mr Smart "that's the best thing I've done in my life". A truly amazing statement from a man who had experienced the world. Although this event had been planned for months he succumbed to a chest infection and was hospitalised shortly afterwards. He was continually attended by "his personal nurse" Hot Spot from Sydney Harriettes.

As he slipped from Hashing on earth he was surrounded at his bedside by Hashers Neil and Martha Crummy (Crum and Crumpet), Lindsey Smith and Di Elfleet (Molly Meldrum and Hot Spot), Nick Sneddon (Mr Smart's son, Crotch Rot), Roy Colmar (Gypo's Hash Father – no Hash name ex Casuarina) and Bigamist's partner Maggie. As they all laid their hands on a truly great man and hasher, Roy looked at Maggie and said, in true Hash form, "I guess we bored him to death with our stories" whereupon the group all burst out laughing.

Although he has blood relatives in Western Australia and the UK he once said his family members are Hash House Harrier friends all over the world.

Andorra, Pyrenees Mountain Hashing

by Quick Drawers

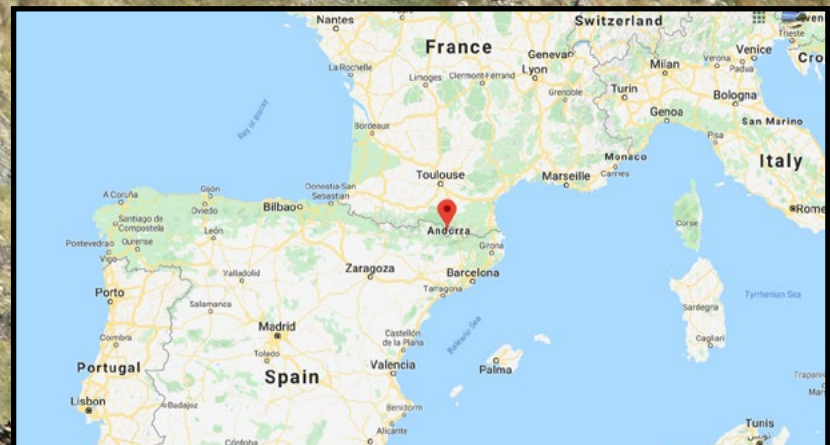

Saturday October 12th, at approximately 5,000 feet in elevation was about the finest weather a hasher would want. Plentiful sunshine, a few white clouds in the clear blue sky and temps almost 70. Scenic Pyrenees mountain hillsides and valleys in every direction. What's not to truly appreciate!

The Andorra hash meets in the afternoon, between April and the end of December, at 2:45 PM for a 3 PM start. On this fine day, 20+ hashers turned out for the trails hared by Andorra Hash Master Colin and his wife Debbie. Three trails were available for the pack's choosing = short, medium and long.

All trails started out together on-up a noticeably inclined gravel road before branching off onto smaller narrow mountain hiking trails. Trails were well marked with chalk since there was no shortage of rocky areas near or on the grassy dirt trails. There was of course a continued gradual increase in the trail's elevation, with expected up and downs. There were some steep declines by portions of the trail, should one not be paying any attention and somehow managed to wander over the side! I was advised that if a hiker did incur an injury requiring removal from a mountain trail by rescue personnel, that would be accomplished at no expense to the hiker (citizen or visitor). If the person injured themselves while bush-whacking off trail, then there would however be an expense. Now you know you can hash worry free on your hash visits to Andorra.

Most of the pack was out just over an hour and then ended back onto the gravel road for cold drinks and their compliments to the hares for a scenic and much appreciated hash. The Andorra hash refers to each other on a first name basis, vs hash names, and as the 5 PM time approached the members began wrapping up the afternoons activities and headed back downhill to their cars. (No circle activities just good conversations).

Expats and some locals have been hashing mountain trails in Andorra since their hash was founded in September 1986. Their senior active hasher is Ralf at age 92. He still hashes on the short course, having retired as a hare 2 years ago when hashers complained his trails were too difficult! ha There were three hardy dogs hashing with the pack, but no babes in strollers or toddlers on this day's trail.

If you enjoy hashing on mountain trails, with no outward signs of civilization, except the occasional picnic bench, then you should definitely add the Andorra hash to your future hash plans. The scenery is spectacular and all the members of this group will warmly welcome you. I wish to thank John for providing transport to/from the hash and our lodging, in the Andorran town of La Massana. A picturesque small town which hosts skiers in the winter and mountain bikers the remainder of the year.

We reached Andorra from the Spanish side of its border via Barcelona, which was a 3-hour comfortable direct bus ride each way. www.international-club-andorra.com will provide you additional info, along with the email contact for their current Social Secretary - Graham at gs.andorra@gmail.com. Again, we thoroughly enjoyed our time in Andorra and the opportunity to hash with this fine group, on their scenic unspoiled hillsides. You will too.

Jab Jab Jab

HASH BOY, and (by extension), his hose, cannot be bought OR sold!

After 42 minutes, the pack arrives...

HAVE YOU GOT SOMETHING TO TELL THEM?

ON ON

SPILL THE BEANS, FAT BOY.

We have pre-layed ... and used the HASH as our own PIGGY BANK.

Your hash has been victimized by these PARASITES ... these LEECHES.

WTF

HOW DOES IT FEEEEEEL...

They have UNREPENENTLY STOLEN yer money, imposed silly RULES & SERVED YOU SHITTY BEER!

What are you Blathering about?

They have held LIVE HARING as a VIRTUE. Yet, have PRE-LAYED Themselves.

CUT 'EM DOWN!

DO WITH THEM AS You see fit!

OPEN SEASON!

The Hash has spoken don't be a SHITHEAD!

Today, the HASH, tomorrow the HASHIT!!

THE POTATO GOES IN FRONT.

STOCKHOLM HASHER PUT DOWN AFTER BREAKING HER LEG

A Hasher has been put down after breaking her leg during the a recent Stockholm Hash.

The Hasher tripped and fell onto the hard concrete ground, shattering her leg in several places.

Doctors quickly rushed to her aid and discovered the worst. 'The leg was badly broken and she was very distressed. There was nothing else we could do,' said Dr Ivor Pistol.

'The problem with runners when they break their legs is that keep trying to put weight on it and it never recovers,' he continued.

A tent was erected around the runner while the doctor administered several bullets to the head before clearing the body off the course.

'You never like to see this happen but it's been a great day otherwise,' said one Hasher finishing his pint of IPA.

NEW SEX DOLLS SO REALISTIC THAT THEY ONLY WANT TO BE FRIENDS WITH YOU

The latest sex doll model is so realistic that they will only want to be friends with you unless you're handsome, rich or successful.

The hyper-realistic dolls will put you straight in the friend zone unless you meet at least one of the three key criteria. 'We believe that the previous models made it too easy for men. If you want to get laid, then you have to buck your ideas up. Simple as that,' said doll manufacturer Ho-Lee Fuq. The dolls will instead encourage men to better themselves. If they do, there will then be a 'new relationship' period where sex will become available.

This window will close in about six months and the sex dolls will begin to ask why there isn't a ring on their finger yet. 'You wanted realism, you've got it,' said Mr Fuq.

BMW RECALLS 300,000 CARS OVER FEARS THEY INCLUDE INDICATORS

BMW has been forced to recall over 300,000 of its cars after it was discovered that they may have included indicators, a part of the vehicle that is completely unnecessary according to BMW drivers. The German carmaker has apologised to their customers and will replace each recalled vehicle with a more suitable model without any turn signals.

'We are incredibly sorry and take full responsibility for this manufacturing error,' said Uter Fuchs, chief engineer at BMW. But BMW drivers aren't happy with the apology, with many saying that their next car could be an Audi. As one BMW driver told us: 'It's scary to think I was just one flick of the wrist away from indicating my turning intention for the rest of the world to see. I prefer to spring that on other drivers at the last possible moment.'

Queen Elizabeth II has invited Prime Minister Boris Johnson for 'a quick chat' at the Tower of London after news emerged that the PM knowingly lied to her about proroguing parliament.

Boris will be ushered to the Tower of London by Royal staff where he will meet one-on-one with Queen Elizabeth II. 'It'll just be you and me,' she told Johnson before whispering to herself, 'and this red-hot poker.'

If Her Majesty believes Johnson's actions to be treasonous, he could be removed as the prime minister by the end of the day. 'And his fucking head will be removed from his shoulders,' she fumed.

Boris Johnson has refused to comment on the situation as he's currently shitting himself in an unknown location.

UK CRACKDOWN ON HATE PREACHERS PUTS DONALD TRUMP'S NEXT STATE VISIT IN JEOPARDY

A crackdown on allowing hate preachers into the UK could put Donald Trump's next state visit in jeopardy, it's emerged.

Home Secretary Sajid Javid has revealed that he has blocked EIGHT hate preachers from entering the UK and wants to get even tougher on extremists.

'We can't let foreign nationals into the UK if all they're bringing is hate,' said Mr Javid.

The statement from the home secretary now throws into doubt whether President Trump will be allowed into the UK at all for his next state visit.

Trump has a history of spewing hatred towards Mexicans, Blacks, Asians, the disabled, LGBTs, women, men who don't agree with him and anyone to the left of Adolf Hitler.

'He's REALLY nice to me though,' said Ivanka, in defence of her father.

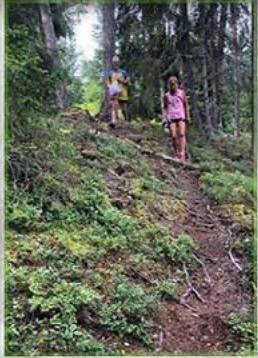

If the state visit doesn't go ahead, Queen Elizabeth will be given the day off to spend with her husband, Prince Philip.

Unbelievably, that is a significant upgrade.

DONALD TRUMP PROMISES TO ERADICATE SWEDISH TERRORIST NETWORK AL-IKEA

President Donald Trump has promised to eradicate Swedish terrorist group Al-Ikea after mishearing an intelligence briefing earlier this morning.

'We first became aware of this Al-Ikea group when monitoring coded transmissions and picking up traffic on Facebook and Twitter,' we were told by President Trump in an exclusive interview earlier today. 'They're all over Sweden and we have evidence they may have already infiltrated several sites within America. These are bad dudes. They know how to make all the weapons themselves,' he told us.

The president went on to state that he believes Al-Ikea is targeting troubled youths with the promise of steady work in a stable environment.

Once again, White House staff have been left exasperated after the latest example of the president's inability to properly listen. As one aide told us: 'Al Qaeda doesn't even sound like Ikea - not that much, anyway - and they don't exactly behave like a terrorist cell. I mean, what does Trump think they're planning? Does he think that "Al-Ikea" can destroy Western society by trapping people into wasting their lives wandering around interminable mazes and then spending all their spare time trying to assemble inscrutable flat-pack furniture...?'

The aide stared into the middle-distance for a moment and then sat bolt upright. 'The bastards!' he exclaimed, before ushering us swiftly out of his office as he reached for a large red telephone on his desk.

FIFA SUES NFL OVER MISUSE OF THE TERM 'FOOTBALL'

FIFA has launched legal proceedings to stop the NFL from using the term 'football' in any way, shape or form, it's emerged.

They claim that the NFL damages the brand of the term 'football' by featuring very little foot-to-ball action.

'It's frankly ludicrous for them to call themselves the National Football League when most of the time the ball is clearly in the hands of the player,' said the FIFA President.

FIFA are asking the NFL for $5 billion in damages as well as filing an injunction to stop them using the term 'football'.

In the likely event the NFL loses the case, they are already exploring alternatives names they can call their brand.

BUSINESSMEN HAIL DYING PLANET FOR ALL THE PROFIT IT'S MADE THEM

Businessmen are celebrating a dying planet for all the profit it's made them at a glitzy event fuelled by ego, avarice and cocaine.

Almost a thousand men wearing Satan's uniforms have gathered to celebrate the life of Earth as it reaches its final days.

'It's not got long left now, so we thought we'd hold an event in its honour. We've made a lot of profit plundering its resources. This just felt right,' said Timothy Monbiot, while quaffing champagne.

The businessmen accept that they had a large hand in killing the planet, but they simply don't care.

'Sure, we're the guilty party. Did you see how much money we made though? It's almost obscene,' laughed Sidney Fotheringham IV.

The event could become an annual occurrence until the planet dies as long as the group can secure funding for the next ten years.

SEXUAL ASSAULT HELPLINE INFORMS HARVEY WEINSTEIN THAT IT'S FOR VICTIMS, NOT TIPS

The helpline warned Weinstein not to call again after it received several calls from the disgraced Hollywood executive asking for advice on how to sexually assault women and get away with it. Weinstein has now become the first person to have his number blocked by the charity.

'It's not something that we ever want to do but Mr Weinstein clearly misunderstood the purpose of our helpline. We want to help the victims, not the assailants,' said one helpline worker. Harvey Weinstein has denied the allegations made by the helpline, as well as the allegations of sexual assault made by over 70 women.

He could face life in prison if found guilty of the charges where it's expected that Weinstein could be greeted by a rope and two sleepy guards.

CIRCUSES STRUGGLING TO FIND NEW CLOWNS AS TOP PROSPECTS CONTINUE TO GO INTO POLITICS

Circuses are struggling to fill clown positions as top prospects are often heading into politics instead, it's emerged. The number of circus clowns has shrunk to a dangerously low level and politics is being blamed for snatching up all the best prospects.

'We used to have half a dozen clowns in our circus. Now we have just one because the rest have retired or gone into politics. And young prospects aren't even considering a career in the circus any more,' said Richard Majesty, a worried ringmaster. 'You just have to look at the current political figures to see where they've snatched talent from us. Boris Johnson, Jacob Rees-Mogg and Jeremy Corbyn all would have made excellent clowns. Even across the pond, they have Donald Trump,' Majesty sighed. Circuses have found they just can't compete with the money and attention that surrounds politics. Instead, a group of circuses are considering joining forces to become their own political party. 'Although I doubt anyone will notice anything different about us,' said Richard.

DONALD TRUMP DEMANDS CLIMATE SCIENTISTS BEGIN WORK ON GLOBAL AIR CONDITIONING

President Donald Trump has demanded that climate scientists begin work on a global air conditioning system after it felt too hot outside for his liking.

Today, Trump gave an impassioned speech about the hot weather and demanded that top climate scientists immediately begin work on a global air conditioning system.

'It's been bigly hot lately and I don't like it one bit. It makes me sweat, which is gross. I have a great air conditioning system at home, some are saying it's the best. We need air conditioning outside to keep everything cool.

'That's why I am demanding that climate scientists stop fooling around and begin work immediately on a global air conditioning system. I don't care how much it costs or how much energy is required to run it. This is our top priority now,' spoked Trump. In the meantime, the president has advised that everyone stay indoors.

STOCKHOLM HASHER TAKES OUT HOME EQUITY LOAN TO AFFORD 2nd DRINK AT TRENDY DOWNTOWN BAR

An un-named Stockholm Underground Hasher took out a home equity loan under terrible terms just to afford a second beer at the On Home while out with his fellow hashing friends at a trendy pretentious bar in Stockholm last week. He slowly sipped on his ultra-fancy boutique IPA for a long as possible to savour it, since it would probably be the last one he could afford at the Blooming Fuchsia, a brand new artisan craft tavern on the island of Kungsholmen.

After he maxed out his credit card to pay for his first drink, he met with the on-site loan officers to negotiate terms on his second drink so he could continue socializing.

Although he qualified for the 10,000 Kr loan to purchase a Hairy Lemon 7.2 special IPA, his credit wasn't good enough to get the 15,000 Kr Ghost Orchid Julep Porter, which is the drink he really wanted.

However he believed his purchase of the second beer was worth it. "Everyone else was getting a second drink, so I felt like I needed to get one too.

I was going to use that money to travel to Nepal for a year and vlog about Buddhist monks, but this ostentatious IPA will be just fine. At least I get to stay at the bar with my fellow Hashers and post a selfie on Instagram proving it."

Unfortunately he won't be able to afford the next chic ostentatious On Home with his Hashing friends so he'll be forced to drink a light domestic beer at a dive bar on Södermalm where someone will get stabbed in a billiards dispute.

R. KELLY TIPPED FOR BRIGHT FUTURE IN REPUBLICAN PARTY AFTER SEX TRAFFICKING ARREST

Singer R. Kelly is being tipped for a bright future in the Republican Party after being arrested on sex trafficking charges. The arrest marks the latest in a string of sexual charges against R. Kelly, who has faced various accusations over the last two decades. Leading Republicans now believe that R. Kelly could have a bright future in the Republican party as a result of his criminal background.

'Sure, he's committed statutory rape and trafficked some women, but who among us hasn't?'

'If you ask me, he could be the next big thing for the Republican Party. We'll be needing another celebrity to take over once Trump stands down and it'll be nice to have someone we can point to whenever we get called racist,' one anonymous Republican told us. Little is known of R. Kelly's actual political beliefs, but that has never stopped an American politician before....

RYANAIR TO TEST PILOTLESS PLANE IN EFFORT TO SAVE MONEY

Budget airline Ryanair is set to become the first airline to test the new pilotless plane, the world's first entirely automated plane. The plan comes on the back of Ryanair blocking its pilots from going on strike.

'From not paying the pilots enough to not having to pay pilots at all, it was a very logical step. We'd sling people over the sea by catapult if we could make it a touch safer,' said CEO Michael O'Leary.

Customers won't be told they're taking a pilotless plane to reduce anxiety about the flight. Meanwhile, pilots are furious over the plan, claiming that a computer just can't do what a human can when it comes to flight.

'This is just a scare tactic from Ryanair. All of us pilots know how much work we do up here in the cabin,' said Pilot Phil Otterman, talking to us while autopilot was flying his plan.

PROTECTION FROM RACIST CUSTOMERS COSTS EXTRA, RYANAIR CONFIRMS

Budget airline Ryanair has today confirmed that protection from racist customers costs extra after an ugly incident on a flight from Barcelona to London.

A black woman was racially abused by a white man sitting next to her before she was asked to move seats by a member of staff.

'We would have happily done the morally correct thing if the woman had only paid for the 'Racism Protection Package', which costs just an extra 20 euros per flight,' said one member of staff.

Because the woman hadn't purchased the package, she was the one forced to move seats. 'What else could we have done? Kicked that racist old cunt off the plane? That way madness lies,' said another Ryanair crew member.

Ryanair has issued a full apology and refund to the man as to apologise for the inconvenience of outing himself as a racist prick.

THOMAS COOK PASSENGERS CHOOSING RIDE SHARE WITH REFUGEES RATHER THAN RYANAIR

Thomas Cook, one of the world's oldest travel providers has gone into liquidation, meaning thousands of job losses and over a hundred thousand holidays cancelled with British citizens already on holiday stranded.

Keith Entwistle of Norden contacted the Hash Trash via telephone and explained his fears about being trapped abroad at a family resort in Tunisia.

When asked whether anyone has been in contact with him regarding alternative flights, Mr Entwistle said.

BREXIT OUTCOME TO BE DECIDED WITH A MUD FIGHT

The outcome of Brexit will be decided with a large-scale mud fight. The fight will take place in a field in the grounds of Jacob Rees-Mogg's mansion. A spokesman for the government told the Hash Trash.

'The people have spoken and 100% of them say that they want the outcome of Brexit to be decided with a mud fight. Jacob has got plenty of land around his mansion where he usually goes shooting birds so we'll just get a few hoses down there, get it all muddy and chuck everyone in to see what happens. It's what they'd do in 18th century England and we're determined to make Britain great again.'

One MP voiced her concern. 'We've been told that we have to wear skimpy bikinis. And that goes for the women too. I'm a bit concerned that the paparazzi will be there to see me in my grundies and that's not on.'

DENMARK OFFERS TO BUY AMERICA FROM RUSSIA

Mette Frederiksen, the Prime Minister of Denmark has reportedly expressed an interest in buying the Russian controlled territory of the United States of America.

Rich in natural resources and fuckwits the territory covers almost 10 million square kilometers and is said to contain huge oil and gas reserves and the largest number of fatties on the planet.

Russian Premier Vladimir Putin who bought the US with a Betamax videotape of two prostitutes urinating on a dementia patient told the Hash Trash.

'It's a pretty good deal and we're open to discussing it with Denmark. Russia bought North America for the price of two hookers and a large bottle of Evian Water so anything over 75 rubles is a good return on our investment.'

'Denmark would be a pretty good acquirer for the territory. They're the happiest country in the world, have an amazing welfare state and they can all read.'

'Nothing from Thomas Cook but Ryanair offered to ship us back. I've looked into it and while a dinghy ride to Sicily from here is pretty treacherous there's more legroom and I won't be charged for my hand luggage. It works out cheaper and they're more reliable.'

'I've spoken to one of the Looky Looky men trawling the beach and through him managed to secure a place on one of the dingies used to ferry in migrants and refugees. Sure there is a high risk of drowning, but at least we'll leave on time.'

DRINKING BEER MAKES MEN MORE INTELLIGENT SOMETHING WE HASHERS HAVE KNOWN FOR A VERY LONG TIME

Scientists have discovered that drinking beer makes men more intelligent.

Boffins at Suffolk's prestigious College of Medicine found men who drink at least five pints of ale every day were far better equipped to hold high-level discussions about important issues of the day.

And blokes on the beer were also more adept at completing brain tasks like finishing cryptic crosswords and solving complicated mathematical equations.

The surprising findings will be music to the ears of boozers across Britain, who have been insisting beer is good for them since the drink was first invented in 1837.

---onon---

But the scientists at the College of Medicine in Stowmarket, which is recognised as one of Europe's top drug and chemical research institutions, found that the opposite was true for women.

'We supplemented our research by looking at women's behaviour after they have been drinking beer,' explained the college's Dr Lorraine Fisher, 34.

'Unfortunately women are wired differently to men, and women became less intelligent after drinking.'

'TALKING GIBBERISH'

'We conducted strict testing under laboratory conditions and watched aghast as the women on the beer test started talking gibberish and picking fights with each other.'

'It always started with something really small, an innocent passing comment, for example. But it quickly blew out of proportion into a real ruck that spilled out into the car park.'

---onon---

'We then carried out the same intelligence tests as we did on the male test group, and the women had trouble holding the pen the correct way up, and could then only draw doodles on the crossword rather than complete it.'

---onon---

'But for men the news is indeed very encouraging, and the fact we are releasing it on a Friday means they can go into the weekend with their heads held high, knowing a good night or two on the beer will make them a better person.'

Dr Fisher, 34, is yet to release the full findings, but she did reveal that her team found chemical reactions between malt, sugars and yeast were responsible for increasing cells in the male brain.

'CROSSWORD GENIUS'

Beer drinker Danny Francis, 28, of Eye, said: 'I knew I was a clever bloke but did not really know why, because my dad and the rest of the family are pretty thick.'

'But I drink loads of Adnams beer, so this research explains it.'

Last week I completed the Sun's crossword for the first time in my life, and that was after seven pints.'

EXTINCTION REBELLION SMASH UP A WIND FARM

Extinction Rebellion have stepped up their campaign against things that they really should be in favour of by smashing up a wind farm. Sixty or so climate campaigners set about the wind farm in Norwich with hammers and baseball bats and spent several hours smashing it up accompanied by the sound of a naked hippy called Crumpkin playing the bongos. "Down with stuff!" Shouted Simon Williams, a member of Extinction Rebellion who seemed really quite over-excited. "It's really important to smash up wind farms because wind farms make electricity and electricity makes televisions work and televisions have adverts for cars and cars are just awful." The smashing up of the wind farm comes in the wake of the group's controversial protest on the London Underground. "I don't understand why everyone thought that was wrong," said a baffled Williams. "For all you know, there could have been high-powered oil executives getting on the Tube at Canning Town, and if we stop just one oil executive getting to work then there's a chance we've made a difference." It is understood that Extinction Rebellion next plan to target a Greenpeace charity shop and kick David Attenborough in the face. In related news, Extinction Rebellion offshoot Animal Rebellion have reportedly slaughtered a herd of tofu, in order to protest against the meat trade.

A FLAT NON-WHITE

Coffee drinkers will now have a new option at their local Starbucks, which is rolling out a beverage offering called the 'Flat Non-White' starting today. "Now everyone gets to be represented in our made-up espresso drink lineup." Starbucks said it wanted to make the gesture towards diversity in light of the attention former CEO Howard Schultz was drawing to the company with his comment that he 'doesn't see color'.

"And we all know what that means." Initial ideas kicked around were a Flat Black, until someone pointed out that was basically an Americano, and a range of colored lattes, including a Flat Red and Flat Yellow, until someone said 'No, just... no'.

"For simplicity we elected to go with a single new product, the 'Flat Non-White', which is basically a Flat White with more stuff thrown in." Independent analysis shows that it does indeed come with a good many added ingredients, including caramel, a dash of turmeric power, a teaspoon of oyster sauce, and sprinkles. "It's like a party in your mouth, a world party."

TRUMP SLAMS PRESIDENT OF HAWAII FOR NOT MEETING HIM AT AIRPORT

Air Force One touched down in Honolulu last month with everyone in high spirits in anticipation of a successful 9-day tour of Asia. However, President Trump was soon in a foul mood, due to what he said was an unforgiveable snub. "Why isn't the President of Hawaii here to greet me? So wrong!" Trump was even more angry to discover that, not only would he be not be greeted at the airport, but there were no scheduled meetings with his Hawaiian counterpart at all. "Whatever the Hawaiian President may think of me personally, this is unacceptable!" Aides tried to explain to Trump that, in a sense, he was constantly meeting with the President of Hawaii, just like he is constantly being told how great he is by the President of Guam, but Trump didn't want to hear it. "Just take me to see the tribal village where Obama was born. Hopefully they'll be more welcoming."

DONALD TRUMP BUYS POUNDLAND AFTER MISTAKING IT FOR POLAND

President. President Donald Trump has today bought Poundland for $35 million to expand the United States, according to a press release from the White House.

After a failed bid for Greenland, Donald Trump turned his attention to his next target - Poundland. 'Greenland is, and now will always be, a country of losers. I only tried to buy it out of politeness. Poundland is much better. It's a beautiful country and we're proud to make it a part of America,' Trump told the press. Poundland will not become a new state of America, it will remain an unincorporated territory, much like Puerto Rico. However, the acquisition has already proven to be a mistake after sources in the White House revealed that Trump thought he was purchasing Poland. 'He wanted to take over Poland, much like his biggest political hero. When he finds out his mistake, he's going to be very sad,' said one aide.

Professional drinking now the only sport Scotland is still good at Scotland's dismal exit from the Rugby World Cup has confirmed the only sport the nation is good at is drinking. With Scotland's football team also failing to impress in the Euro Qualifiers, currently behind even Cyprus, sports fans north of the border have turned to drink. But what good drinkers they are! Sports expert Lorraine Fisher, 34, said: "Heavy drinking has been a national sport in Scotland for hundreds of years. Scottish men and certainly the women excel at it. "The English might think they can pack it away, but come on, the Scots have boozing sewn up. "Just let them have some sporting success with the drinking. It's all they've got." Scotland crashed out of the Rugby World Cup when they were beaten by rugby giants, Japan.

TWO FOUND GUILTY IN THE TRAGIC BIRTH OF JUSTIN BIEBER

A man and a woman have been found guilty of the tragic birth of Justin Bieber, despite claiming that it was an accident. The couple were found guilty of the tragic birth of Canadian 'entertainer' Justin Bieber and sentenced to a lifetime of scornful looks and being publicly tutted at, the harshest punishment The British Commonwealth has to offer. While the couple, who we can't name for legal reasons, claimed the horrific incident was merely an accident, that didn't hold water with the judge. 'Condoms, birth control and abortions all exist for a reason. Justin Bieber is that reason,' said Judge Bread. The majority of the Canadian public was pleased with the ruling, although many wished for tougher sentencing. 'The birth of Justin Bieber was a crime against humanity and should have been treated as such. We need tougher sentences to stamp out this sort of thing,' said one angry Brit. Bieber, whose inability to laugh at jokes has made him popular in America, has been unavailable for comment.

This exfoliating skin wash will kill every fish in the ocean but you'll look amazing so fuck them

GIRLS, are you ready for silky smooth skin, the eradication of 90% of all visible blackheads, and a noticeable glow and radiance in your face area? If the answer to all these questions is 'yes' and you also are pretty ambivalent to the future of the marine life in our oceans, then we may have the perfect product for you! Visage Du Mer Mort is an incredible new exfoliating skin scrub that blew away our expectations when we tested it over the course of the last month. Containing 100% natural ingredients as well as hundreds of thousands of tiny little plastic beads, Visage Du Mer Mort left our skin feeling supple, cleansed, and completely oblivious to the dead fish that were showing up on our shores by the thousand, thanks to their own stupidity and insistence on eating everything that they find floating in the water. Remember; if fish want to eat plastic microbeads, that's their problem. You have an oily t-zone; that's your problem. We have a solution to one of these problems, which one would you like it to be? The dead fish, or the dead-looking skin on your face? Thought so. You can live the rest of your life safe in the knowledge that our oceans aren't teeming with fish-killing microbeads, or you can look amazing. Do you really think a fish gives a fuck about you? No, they don't. They want you to be as scaly as they are. It's you or the fish. Which is it going to be, eh?

WELCOME TO THE OKTOBER FEST RUN

It was a bright and sunny October day as we invaded Laid Bird's new nest for her Oktober Fest run. An enjoyable trail through the southern suburbs and forests of Stockholm with a Vodka stop with some fizzy stiff in little parcels to sip before mixing with the vodka. A short run continuing to the next drink stop with German Bier and Fünfkornbrot, Pretzels und Sonnenblumenbrot.

AND HOUSE WARMING PARTY

Back at an OnInn to complete the illusion we were served three different wursts and sauerkraut followed by more German bier and a selection of Swedish beers. Good run Birdie, look forward to your next and leave you with this reminder.

AN INSIGHT INTO THE ANIMAL KINGDOM

A hare walks into a pub and says to the barman
Can I have a pint of beer, and a Ham and Cheese Toastie?

The barman is amazed, but gives the hare a pint of beer and a ham and cheese toastie. The hare drinks the beer and eats the toastie. He then leaves.

The following night the hare returns and again asks for a pint of beer, and a Ham and Cheese Toastie.

The barman, now intrigued by the hare and the extra drinkers in the pub, (because word gets round), gives the hare the pint and the Toastie. The hare consumes them and leaves. The next night, the pub is packed.

In walks the hare and says, 'A pint of beer and a Ham and Cheese Toastie, please barman.'

The crowd is hushed as the barman gives the hare his pint and toastie, and then burst into applause as the hare wolfs them down.

The next night there is standing room only in the pub.

Coaches have been laid on for the crowds of patrons attending. The barman is making more money in one week than he did all year. In walks the hare and says, 'A pint of beer and a Ham and Cheese Toastie, please barman.'

The barman says, 'I'm sorry hare, old mate, old mucker, but we are right out of them Ham and Cheese Toasties.'

The hare looks aghast.

The crowd has quietened to almost a whisper, when the barman clears his throat nervously and says,

'We do have a very nice Cheese and Onion Toastie.'

The hare looks him in the eye and says, 'Are you sure I will like it.'

The crowd's bated breath is ear shatteringly silent. The barman, with a roguish smile says, 'Do you really think that would let down one of my best friends. I know you'll love it.'

'Ok,' says the hare, 'I'll have a pint of beer and a Cheese and Onion Toastie.'

The pub erupts with glee as the hare quaffs the beer and guzzles the toastie.

He then waves to the crowd and leaves.... NEVER TO RETURN!!!!!!

One year later, in the now impoverished public house, the barman, (who has only served 4 drinks tonight, 3 of which were his), calls time. When he is cleaning down the now empty bar, he sees a small white form, floating above the bar.

The barman says, 'Who are you? To which he is answered,

'I am the ghost of the hare that used to frequent your public house.'

The barman says, 'I remember you. You made me famous.

You would come in every night and have a pint of beer and a Ham and Cheese Toastie.

Masses came to see you and this place was famous.'

The hare says, 'Yes I know.'

The barman said, 'I remember, on your last night we didn't have any Ham and Cheese Toasties.

You had a Cheese and Onion one instead.'

The hare said, 'Yes, you promised me that I would love it.'

The barman said, 'You never came back, what happened?'

'I DIED,' said the ghostly hare.

'NO!' said the barman. 'What from?'

After a short pause, the hare said 'Mix-in-me-toasties

'We regret testing our products on animals,' admits chainsaw company

A chainsaw manufacturer has today apologised for testing its products on animals for the last ten years.

Crimson Chainsaws are one of the top chainsaw brands on the market but they've recently come under fire for testing their products on a variety of animals.

With a slogan of 'Cats, dogs and boars are no match for Crimson Chainsaws!' the company believes it has always been upfront about its methods. However, they accept they now need to change with the times. 'It's clear that people want us to move away from testing our chainsaws on animals and we always kowtow to public demand when it could affect our bottom line,' said company spokesperson Michael Myers.

Crimson Chainsaws will now move on from testing on animals to testing only on trees and the occasional teenager.

GLOBAL LEADERS ANNOUNCE PLANS TO HOPE CLIMATE CATASTROPHE SORTS ITSELF OUT

In response to huge climate protests around the world, leaders from all nations have announced plans to hope it all sorts itself out.

The plans have been agreed by 156 out of 195 countries, and will be implemented immediately.

"I am pleased to be on television," announced President Macron of France, before adding "to announce an agreement amongst leaders from around the globe to hope this whole climate thing sorts itself out.

"All countries have pledged to begin hoping it all sorts itself out with immediate effect. So I'm sure we will see some real results in the coming months and years."

Other leaders were quick to agree.

"I hereby promise to really hope the climate catastrophe sorts itself out," pledged British 'Prime' Minister Boris Johnson before going on to do anything but hope that the climate catastrophe sorts itself out.

Canada's first black Prime Minister Justin Trudeau revealed he had signed up to the plans.

"Irie, irie. 'Ear me know. Me am pledge to hope climate catastrophe sort itself out. Rastafari! Jah!"

President Donald Trump has demanded that climate scientists begin work on a global air conditioning system after it felt too hot outside for his liking.

Trump gave an impassioned speech about the hot weather and demanded that top climate scientists immediately begin work on a global air conditioning system.

It's been bigly hot lately and I don't like it one bit. It makes me sweat, which is gross. I have a great air conditioning system at home, some are saying it's the best. We need air conditioning outside to keep everything cool.

That's why I am demanding that climate scientists stop fooling around and begin work immediately on a global air conditioning system.

I don't care how much it costs or how much energy is required to run it. This is our top priority now,' spoke Trump.

In the meantime, the president has advised that everyone stay inside with their AC cranked up to maximum.

Finally, President Trump clarified his thoughts on the matter. "Everyone like President. Radical Democrat CNN Hillary Fake News WEATHER," he tweeted.

Meanwhile a zero-waste group has urged lavish humans to eat the entire person and not just the ass, the most popular part of the person. The popularity of ass-eating has skyrocketed in recent years but (and it's a big but) it's considered incredibly wasteful by zero-waste groups.

'There's a lot of other parts on the human body and the majority of them just get ignored.

Most of the time the ass gets eaten and then the rest of the body is just discarded.

'If we want to make a real change then we must start eating the whole body, just like Native Americans did with bison,' implored zero-waste climate advocate

Honeydew Pip-Bean.

The advice could prove vital to keeping climate change goals on track, although it hasn't proved popular with many people. As one Twitter user tweeted: 'Everyone knows the ass is the most delicious part of the human. If you think I'm going to start eating feet, you've got another thing coming.'

It is currently anticipated that the climate catastrophe could render large portions of the planet uninhabitable within a generation. Recently Britain was hit with temperatures over 30C, the natural boiling point for anyone from Britain. Despite this, future summers will undoubtedly be hotter.

'We could see British summers hit 40C within ten years. This will kill off the vast majority of British people who don't have access to cold beer and ice lollies,' said Dr Nataka

The news has been treated as positive by many Britons, most of whom are swimming in debt.

'This takes a lot of the pressure off,' one told us.

Happy the billions of people who will be left huddling together on the few land-masses that remain above sea-level will now be able to take comfort in the fact that the generation before them hoped everything would sort itself out.

Is the fizzy orange musical you've been waiting for

FANS HAVE BEEN queuing up outside New York's Broadway and London's West End areas as the fizzy drink/Andrew Lloyd Webber crossover extravaganza no one knew they wanted premiers just in time for Halloween.

"Brand synergy and songs bursting with juicy orange flavour? Who do I have to bribe to get a ticket," exclaimed one excited musical fan, flashing the cash at ticket touts for Fanta Of The Opera with tickets going for as much as $1,000 each. Early previews suggest the musical, which just replaces the titular Phantom with a great big bottle of Fanta which dwells underneath the Paris Opera until he saw the size of the paycheck. Fanta Of The Opera plays in the Gershwin Theatre in New York and the Lyceum in London until the 30th of November.

Reality tv to blame for increase in number of fucknuggets being elected president, say video games

Reality TV is to blame for the number of imbeciles and ding-a-lings who are being elected president of the United States, video games have suggested today.

"We must stop the glorification of being an uneducated flim flam artist," a plumber called Mario told The Rochdale Herald. "It's about time our politicians stopped being so one dimensional. Everybody knows you need to be at least two dimensional if you're going to get anything done." "It's about time we cracked down on reality television churning out wallies who think they should be in charge because they're famous but actually have no discernible talents. We must stop or substantially reduce this and it has to begin immediately." Mario did not give any details on what form that crackdown might take or how it would be launched, but it's thought he could take some mushrooms and jump and down on Donald Trump's head.

TRUMP DEMANDS IRAN RETURN
DRONE PILOT UNHARMED

Tensions continued to flare this morning after Iran revealed that it had downed a US surveillance drone that was allegedly within Iranian airspace. President Donald Trump took to the nation's twitter to decry the attack as "an total douche move." Trump continued to add that consequences would follow if Iran failed to return the drone pilot safely. The liberal media was quick to pounce on the president's misfortune, with MSNBC host Chris Hayes poignantly tweeting that "President Obama didn't lose a drone pilot in eight years."

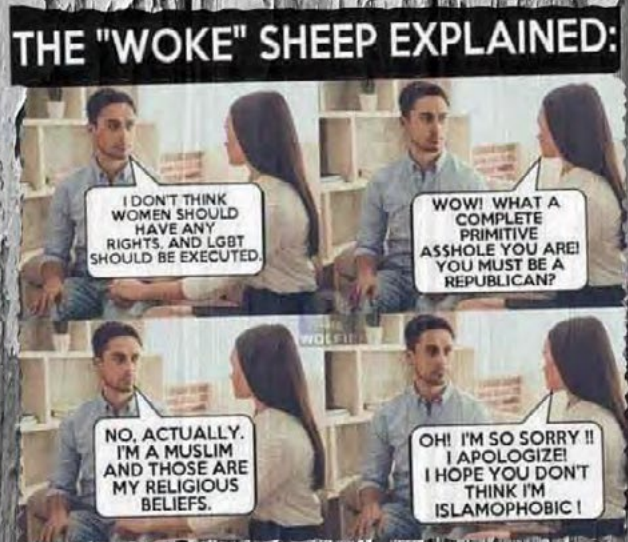

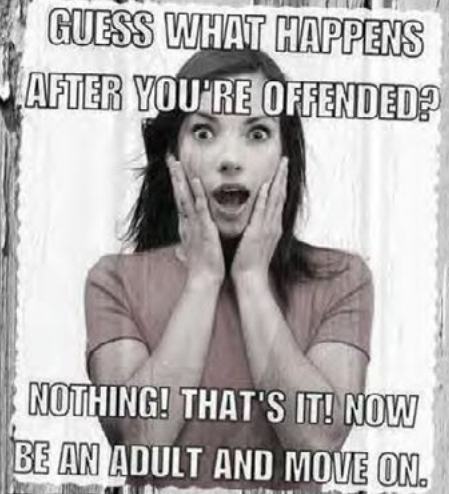

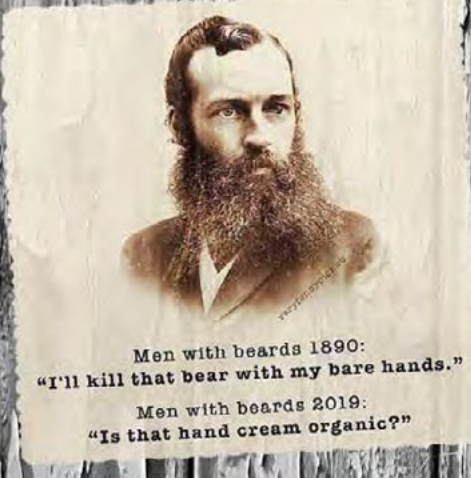

Lewis Hamilton to help save the planet by driving a foot-powered F1 vehicle

Lewis Hamilton is set to become the first F1 driver to drive a foot-powered vehicle to help save the planet. The five-time F1 champion recently claimed that everyone must switch to a vegan lifestyle to stop a climate disaster. Now he's putting his money where his feet are by offering to drive a foot-powered F1 car. "It would be hypocritical of me to tell everyone else to go vegan while I drive high-powered vehicles and fly around the world almost every That's why the boffins at Mercedes have created the world's first foot-powered F1 car. It is entirely carbon neutral and there is no gas-guzzling engine," Lewis told stunned motorsports press. Hamilton has also offered Greta Thunberg, the poor little rich girl who is forever complaining about her lost youth but grew up in a rich theatrical family with everything she needed. the opportunity to ride on the bonnet of the car as a sort of figurehead, although she has yet to respond to the offer.

THE END
